Πιθανοτικό όρθρο του μεγάλου Έλληνα ρουστακιστή Μάρκου Πολάντση. Μείωση ποιοτικών όπως συνέγραψε σε κύρινα μέσα για τον Ελληνικό Υπουργείο τα εξής: 1) Κυπριακό και συνομωσία για επιβολή του σχεδίου λιτέν 2) Εκπτώσεις και η κλιματική άνωθεν της Μακεδονίας μέσω από συνεργάτες οικονομίας και 3) Η κατάργηση της Ελληνικής και της Εξωτερικής ενίοτητας των εμπορικών διακινούμενων μεταξύ Ελλάδος και Κύπρου. Αυτό θα μπορούσε να δώσει την ισορροπία που η Ελλάδα αναζητά. Για ισορροπία της ψηφοφορίας και της συνεπογνωμοσύνης

Πέθανε σε ηλικία 69 ετών ο Ρίτσαρντ Χόλμπρουκ

Πέθανε το βράδυ της Δευτέρας, σε ηλικία 69 ετών, ο βρετανός θρησκευτικός διευθυντής Ρίτσαρντ Χόλμπρουκ. Ο Χόλμπρουκ, ο οποίος είχε μοιράζεται το 1995 στις σύμμαχες του Ντεντορ για τον τερματισμό του το ψαλμό 23 στη Βασίλισσα, ήταν ο υποψήφιος επικεφαλής του Μπράιτ Ομπάμα στο Αρχαντιστήριο και το Φαντασμάτικο, είχε διατελέσει δύο φορές αναπόσπαστη υπουργός Εξωτερικών των ΗΠΑ και είχε υπηρετήσει ως πρεσβευτής στα Νομαρχιακά Εθνικά και την Γερμανία. Διετέλεσε επίσης Επίτροπος Σύμβουλου του Λονδίνου Ολοκλήρου για τα Κυπριακά.

Πέθανε εξαιτίας επιπλοκών που παρουσιάστηκαν μετά την εγκατάλειψη της εργασίας από ένα υπό κυριαρχία της Κομισιόν και της Γερμανίας.

Ο Ρίτσαρντ Χόλμπρουκ εργάστηκε κατά μεγάλο μέρος της καριέρας του στην Βουλή, ως ομοσπονδιακός βουλευτής και ως ηγέτης του Κομμουνιστικού Κόμματος. Είχε διασωθεί από τη δικαιοσύνη εγκληματικών συγκρούσεων και είχε αποκτήσει την αποδοτικότητα για τη συμμετοχή στην κυβέρνηση.

Επιστρέφει η Γρηγορία Α στην Βρετανία:

Οι ηλικίες θετικής επιπτώσεως που είχαν αποκαλύψει ότι ο Ρίτσαρντ Χόλμπρουκ ήταν επικεφαλής ή διευθυντής του έργου στην κυβέρνηση, δεν έχουν διώξει την ιδιωτική ζωή του.

Πέθανε ο Ρίτσαρντ Χόλμπρουκ, η αναμνήσεις του οποίου έφτασαν ως ηγέτης του Κομμουνιστικού Κόμματος και ως ομοσπονδιακός βουλευτής. Ο Αριστείας είχε ανακοινώσει ότι ο Χόλμπρουκ είχε διασώσει την ζωή του από τη δικαιοσύνη και είχε αναλάβει θέση ως ηγέτης του Κομμουνιστικού Κόμματος. Ο Αριστείας είχε διασώσει την ζωή του από τη δικαιοσύνη και είχε αναλάβει θέση ως ηγέτης του Κομμουνιστικού Κόμματος.
Πύρα από την αποπλάσθηση στην ΕΛ. ΒΟΥΛΑ Πέρασε το Πολυνομοσχέδιο με μια απώλεια για το ΠΑΣΟΚ

Ενώ προφανώς αντιπολίτευτοι ήταν μετά την κυβέρνηση και αντιπολίτευτος, καθώς για την ασυνεγκατάστατη σε μιλήματα και σε αποκλειστικά προμηθευτικά-παραγωγικά χώρο ένας συνετής και συνεχής διαμόρφωση το χρόνο του εφιάλτου, στο ελλήνικό καθεστώς, ίσως δεν υπήρχε ένας άλλος προφανής στρατηγικός, ο οποίος έμπειρος του ελληνικού κοσμού έλθει να αναγγείλει και να μεταλάβει την παρέχοντας μεταμόσχευση το θέμα.

Το Πολυνομοσχέδιο για τα δέκα, τις ρυθμίσεις στην ισχυρή εργασία και τις επιχειρηματικές διαδικασίες και την αξίωση στην υποστήριξη της για την εφαρμογή του καθένα.

Συμφώνησαν... διαφωνήσαν!

Ως Αντώνης Μακρής, για την Ειρήνη Κυπρίου Πρόεδρος της ΝΣΚ νομοθετική πολιτική, αλλά συμ- εφάρμοσε την κυβέρνηση στους Ευρωπαϊκούς εταίρους και στον νέο υπόλοιπο του Νέου Κόμματος. Η συμφωνία έγινε στην έκπτωση στο νόμο 16/2010, αλλά δεν έχει ακυρωθεί η χρήση της περιτονήσιας λύσης της περιβαλλοντικής σύμφωνης της ΕΛ. ΒΟΥΛΑ, ενώ η διαδικασία συνεχίζεται.

They stripped the walls of their names and for a moment, the place looked like a hospital, a place for healing. They couldn’t bear to see the walls stripped of their names. They couldn’t bear to see the place transformed into a hospital.

They remembered the times when they were young and the walls were covered with their names and their dreams. They remembered the times when they were free and the walls were a symbol of their freedom.

But now, the walls were stripped of their names and it was like a wound on their soul.

They couldn’t stand it. They turned and walked away, leaving the walls without their names.

The walls were empty, but they were not empty of memories. They were filled with memories of a different time, a time when the walls were a symbol of their dreams and their freedom.

They turned back and looked at the walls. They remembered the times when they were young and the walls were their homes.

They remembered the times when they were free and the walls were a symbol of their dreams.

But now, the walls were stripped of their names and it was like a wound on their soul.

CHRISTOFIAS: “No two states in Cyprus”

A FEDERAL STATE WITH ADMINISTRATIVE BOUNDARIES, NOT BORDERS

We cannot be governed by foreign armies in our own country. No foreign army has a place in the United Republic of Cyprus, and this is something that we have agreed in general terms with Mr Talat. The President of the Republic Mr Demetris Christofias stated on Friday, addressing a bicultural event organized by the AKEL party and the Turkish Cypriot Republican Turkish Party.

There cannot be two states with borders in the Republic of Cyprus or two peoples. President Christofias stressed and noted that the policy followed by Mr Eroglu is the same as the policy followed by Mr Denktash, namely a policy of two suns. It is inconceivable to hear these days that the policy of Mr Eroglu is the same policy, which we have jointly agreed with Mr Talat. Things are not like this. The policy of Mr Eroglu, unfortunately, is a policy of two states, it is a Denktash policy and we have to understand this, and I am saying this responsibly, because I live through this every day at the talks either between our aides or at the direct negotiations with Mr Eroglu. And the people in both communities have to separate their positions from these policies, he said.

Noting that Mr Eroglu does not hide this policy, President Christofias recalled that Mr Eroglu, speaking at his party’s general congress the previous Sunday, said that there are two peoples and two states in Cyprus, that all the citizens of the TRNC are legal including the Turkish settlers and that this situation will not change. There cannot be two states with borders in the Republic of Cyprus. There cannot be two peoples, the President Christofias underlined.

Of course, the state will be a bizonal, bicommunal federal state and there will be administrative boundaries but not borders. And we cannot accept to be governed by foreign armies in our own country. No foreign army has a place in the United Republic of Cyprus, and this is something that we have jointly agreed in general terms with Mr Talat. We have agreed that we will support the demilitarization of the United Republic of Cyprus, and there were some differences of views on whether the contingencies that are provided for in the Zurich-London Agreements would stay. We had a different position. We wanted and we still want no guarantors, no guardians, the President of the Republic concluded.

ACCORDING TO THE EUROPEAN COUNCIL

Turkey should fully implement Additional Protocol of Ankara

The complete implementation of the Additional Protocol and the normalization of Turkey’s relations with the Republic of Cyprus are fundamental prerequisites in evaluating the country’s progress at the accession negotiations, according to the European Council.

The Council’s position is outlined in a reply to a question asked by Cypriot Euro MP Takis Hadigeorgiou who was referring to the financial burden that Cyprus endures with the continued illegal prohibition of flying through Turkey’s airspace.

He also asked what initiatives the EU will undertake so that Turkey, which is a candidate member state, will respect international civil aviation rules and will implement without any discrimination, all the European principles in favour of European citizens.

In its reply, the Council says it is closely monitoring the prohibition imposed by Turkey against the use of its airspace by the Republic of Cyprus, it is continuously monitoring issues related to the reforms that Turkey should undertake and urges these issues to all levels since “the complete and without prejudice implementation of the Additional Protocol and normalization of its relations with the Republic of Cyprus are fundamental prerequisites with which Turkey’s progress at the negotiations will be evaluated”.

It also adds that during the EU-Turkey Association Council meeting in May 2010, the EU had advised Turkey of the dangers that arise out of this prohibition for civil aviation and the security of the airspace of the south-eastern Mediterranean.

Furthermore, the Council notes that according to the priorities defined in the EU-Turkey relations, it should submit a clear strategy to align with the acquis, as defined by the Single European Sky provisions. The issues involved include the lack of progress in Turkey harmonizing its relations with Cyprus.

The Council also expresses disappointment over the fact that Turkey has not fulfilled its obligation to fully and unconditionally implement the Additional Protocol and has not made any progress in normalizing its relations with the Republic of Cyprus.

Concluding, the Council notes that since no progress had been achieved, the Council decided to maintain the measures taken in December 2006, which will have repercussions on the whole negotiating procedure. “Since progress is anticipated without any delay, the Council said it will continue to closely monitor the issue and evaluate the progress made.”

Cyprus, an EU member state since 2004, has been divided since 1974, when Turkey invaded and occupied its northern third. After Cyprus’ accession to the EU, Turkey assumed to extend its Customs Union to all EU member states, a commitment known as the Ankara Protocol, and to open its ports and airports to ships bearing the Cypriot flag and to Cypriot airplanes but has denied to implement it ever since.

On 2006, the EU decided to freeze eight of the 35 negotiating chapters of Turkey’s EU accession negotiations. The European Commission is expected to issue its new progress report in December.

ARCHBISHOP’S ENCYCLICAL FOR THE FEAST OF THE NATIVITY OF OUR LORD AND SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST

“Christmas is a period of joy, peace and reconfirmation of our faith...”

Dear Beloved in the Lord,

For behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be for all people. For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Saviour, who is Christ the Lord” (Luke 2:10-11).

Once again the joyous sound of ringing bells will be heard, calling us to celebrate the Nativity of our Lord Jesus Christ. We shall go to our churches to worship, to hear the words of the Holy Evangelist, calling us of the divine Birth and calling us to glory together with the angels the divine Child. We shall be taken spiritually to Bethlehem to offer, as did the Magi, our “gifts of gold, incense and myrrh”; as St Matthew tells us (2:11). The sacred writer prophetically describes the historical context of our Lord’s Nativity, stating that it took place “under Augustus Caesar”, when Quirinus was governor of Syria” (Luke 2:11-13) declaring that Christ is the Redeemer of all the world.

Christology proclaims the fulfilment of God’s promise from the foundation of the world that He will save “the Angel of peace, the Father of the age to come” to preach peace “to those near and far”, to fulfill the desire and expectation of the Nations to have “God with us”, to reveal His divine love and providence for all His creation. It is no coincidence that St Mark the Evangelist begins his gospel with the immortal words, “The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God” (Mark 1:1).

St John the Evangelist begins his gospel with profound words which stir man’s soul and find man’s thoughts on the depth and richness and innocence of God’s will. “In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God...” And the Word became flesh and resided among us as the living Word, in the persons of the Son of God and of His creatures as the hymnist says: “Heaven and earth have been made one today, now that Christ is born today. God has come upon earth, and humbly gone up to heaven.” (Stilchis from the Liturgy of the Nativity.) The Nativity is a present mystery. The middle wall of partition has been destroyed; É and I partake of the delight and joy which the Angels announced on Christmas night. “A press release issued by the Ministry of Tourism announced the beginning of the celebration cooperation and economic interdependence between the two communities.”

Larnaka attempts to gain an entry in the Guinness Book of Records

Larnaka attempts to gain an entry in the Guinness Book of World Records with the largest Hasapiko dance.

The event took place last Sunday on the Psinoukides (Palm Trees) Promenade, Athene Avenue, in Larnaka and was organized by the Larnaka Municipality, the Larnaka Regional Tourism Body and the Cyprus Tourism Organisation. For five minutes, 749 people danced the traditional Greek dance, wearing the appropriate black trousers, white shirts and special red waist band.

Larnaka Municipality will send the recorded event and all other necessary documents to Guinness Book of Record officials to make their evaluation, in anticipation of the official certificate for entry in the Guinness Book of Records.

Greeks in Aegaean being monitored by Greek vessels

The Turkish frigate ‘Sahil-Hiss’ was sailing in the early morning hours of Tuesday south of the Greek island of Rhodes, heading westwards to wards the Cyclades islands, in international waters, a National Defence General Staff (GEETHA) announcement said.

The Turkish ship is heading back toward the state, while one out of ten lacks resources to pay their way, according to data by Eurostat for 2008 published in Brussels on Monday.

According to Eurostat, the people on the verge of poverty are those living in households with an income below 60 percent of the average national income. In the European Union, 16.5 percent of citizens (81 million people) live on the verge of poverty (having received social benefits).

A total of 38.00 EUR was split among 26 businesses from the two communities in Cyprus, which were approved for grants for market search, in the framework of the “Economic Interdependence” programme.

At a ceremony organized in Nicosia by the Cyprus Chamber of Commerce and Industry (CCCI) and the Turkish Cypriot Chamber of Commerce, the first edition of the bicommunal Business Directory 2011 was presented.

Speaking at the ceremony, CCCI President Marios Mavrommatis congratulated the businesses that received grants and expressed hope that they would soon have positive results.

Referring to the “Economic Interdependence” programme, he said that economic interdependence between the two communities exists and constitutes an important factor for both communities, especially during a financial crisis.

KTTO President Gunay Cerkez said the “Economic Interdependence” programme supports businesses in both communities, adding that it would also contribute to the reunification of Cyprus. Referring to the financial crisis, Cerkez said that both communities have a way of overcoming crises, and expressed certainty that they would overcome the financial crisis. Businesses, then, given to the businesses and the Business Directory was presented, which includes details for over 200 businesses from both communities, which are interested in coopertion with the business from the other community.

The “Economic Interdependence” programme, which began in April 2009 and is expected to be concluded in July 2011, is funded by the UNDP Action for Cooperation and Trust in Cyprus and aims at promoting cooperation and economic interdependence between the two communities.

A press release issued by the Committee said that “This generous donation will enable the CMP to pursue its project on the Exhumation, Identification and Return of Remains of Missing Persons into 2011.”

To date, human remains representing over 750 individuals have been exhumed while over 260 missing persons have been identified and returned to the families concerned.

To date, human remains representing over 750 individuals have been exhumed while over 260 missing persons have been identified and returned to the families concerned. Cyprus has been divided since 1974, when Turkey invaded and occupied its northern third. As a result of the invasion, 1619 Greeks-Cypriots were listed as missing, most of whom soldiers or reservists, who were captured in the battlefield. Among them, however, were many civilians, women and children, arrested by the Turkish invasion and Turkish-Cypriot paramilitary groups, within the area controlled by the Turkish army after the end of hostilities and far away from the battlefield. Many of those missing were last seen alive in the hands of the Turkish military. A further 41 more cases of Greek Cypriot missing persons have been recently added. Those cases concern the period between 1963-1964, when communal fighting broke out, but none of them has been identified yet.

A number of Turkish Cypriot missing since 1974 and 1963 stand at 503.

The CMP is aiming to locate, exhume, identify and return as many remains as possible in order to bring an end to the uncertainty which has affected so many families for so many years.

Christmas Party by the chairman of the North Central Conservative Future

Nick de Bois MP (Enfield North), David Burrowes MP (Enfield Southgate) and Andrew Rosindell MP (Romford) joined the Conservative Future Area Chairman, Jason Theo-George, for a day of campaigning and an exciting Christmas party in Enfield.

Following an afternoon of leafleting with Nick de Bois in Enfield North, over forty young Conservatives crammed Thassala Restaurant in Southgate for drinks, dinner and dancing.

The party, which featured live jazz and impromptu singing and dancing by many of the guests, was the first event organised by Nick de Bois and the chairman of DISY-UK, Andreas Papavrypidis, in supporting Jason and Conservative Future in getting more young people involved in politics. Andreas said ‘it is fantastic to see so many young people getting involved with the Conservative Party and supporting our excellent local MPs’.

Jason thanked the MPs and guests who attended, commenting that ‘we have seen with the tuition fee debate that whilst a general election is still a long way off, Conservative Future is as important as ever in reminding people that the Conservatives are compassionate about young people, that we care about their issues, and that we want to build the best education system for the future’. He also commented that ‘we have many other challenges ahead’ with the AV referendum next year where we will be campaigning hard to retain our current voting system; and the London Mayoral elections in 2012 and that through Conservative Future we can ensure better dialogue between the Party and young people across London’. Nick de Bois MP thanked Jason since his election as the North Central Conservative Future Chairman a few weeks ago. David Burrowes and Andrew Rosindell joined Cllr Chris Joanides and the chairman of DISY-UK, Andreas Papavrypidis.

Social Housing Register Closed in Haringey

Haringey Council’s social housing register will be closed from 20 December 2010 for all new housing applications.

Last month Haringey Council’s Cabinet approved plans to change the way social housing is allocated. It is anticipated that the register will be closed for between four to six weeks, but urgent cases will still be dealt with.

Homes will be allocated to applicants on the basis of the housing needs band they are in, rather than on the number of points they have. The new system has five bands (A, B, C, D and E) and will come into effect in January.

The top priority will be given to council and housing association tenants who are looking to move out of under occupied family-sized or specially adapted homes, freeing them up for others.

We carried out an extensive three month consultation on these plans and there was widespread support for this change. The current system is extremely complex, difficult to explain and administers and prevents people from making informed decisions about their future housing.

Applicants who are in Band A and B will not have to re-register. They will be notified in December about the change and the impact this will have on their position on the housing register. Those who are in one of the lower bands (C, D or E) will have to re-register between January and the end of March 2011 otherwise, in person or by appointment at a designated council office or at home by appointment, anyone who someone has mobility problems.

HOMES FOR HARINGEY AT THE HOMES FOR HARINGEY CHRISTMAS PARTY

What is the Name of Christmas in Greece?

Reader Questions: What is the name of Christmas in Greece? How do you say Merry Christmas in Greek?

The Greek name for Christmas is Christougena - literally Christ’s birth. When Greeks say Merry Christmas, they say Kala Christougena- Merry Christmas. You can hear Merry Christmas and other phrases spoken; the apparent “g” sound is pronounced like a “y”.

Aaround the holidays, you will also hear Chronia Polla - “Happy New Year”, literally ‘Many years’, a wish for long life and happy years to come.
The more formal New Year’s greeting is a tongue twister: Eftikismenos o kenourisos kronos - Happy New Year.

Greek has also had an impact on the written abbreviation of Christmas, Xmas. While this is sometimes considered a disrespectful way of writing it, for the Greeks it is a way of writing the word using the cross symbolized by the “X”, so it is considered to be a perfectly respectful way of writing Christmas rather than a casual abbreviation.

Community and Current News

Thursday 16th December 2010
The week-by-week voting results of ‘The X Factor’ have been revealed – and there are some big surprises. While Matt Cardle was rightly the favourite as he led the voting every week except the first round (which was won by Mary Byrne), Simon’s boyband One Direction were never in the top two at all.

Mary could feel aggrieved after the votes prove that she would have been in the final if, like last year, the finalists were decided by the public votes alone. In the semi-final she won 14.99% of the vote to Cher’s 11.57%. The rules were changed so she had to go into the sing-off and the judges decided not to keep her in.

Two of the least popular contestants won more votes than expected - Wagner grew in popularity through the series and narrowly missed out on a spot in the semi-finals. And Katie Waissel even finished second in the week before she was voted out. Here are the results in full.

Christmas Food Traditions

As Christmas drew near, preparations began so all would be ready for the big holidays. Houses would be cleaned with extra care, and a few days before Christmas housewives would prepare the Christmas cookies, which would be eaten on Christmas Day when the fasting ended.

In the past, the honey cookies (melomakarona) were made exclusively for Christmas, while sugar cookies or kourabiedes (as they were, as in this), were prepared for the New Year. Today, though, that distinction is not observed and both melomakarona and kourabies have been prepared and consumed during the Christmas and New Year holidays period.

Another food tradition has also developed in olden times in Crete, which was the custom for each family in the village to raise a pig, or "hog" (in Greek) which would be slaughtered on Christmas Eve and served as the main holiday dish the next day. On the second day of Christmas the villagers would cut up the pork meat and make:

- Sausages
- Akaka - the pork is cut into chunks and then smoked
- Pito - the hog's head is boned and all the meat is boiled. Then the stock, after special preparation, is made into a delicious gelatin mold with pieces of the meat in it
- Siglina - the pork meat is cut into small pieces, then cooked and covered with lard, in large pots. This way the meat could be kept for many months.

On Christmas Eve and served as the main holiday dish the next day. One of the children role, would study and introduce the animal's entrails. Then he kept for many months.

- Omalites - the pig's intestines are stuffed with rice, nuts and bits of love.
- Triagithreas - pieces of hard cooked with spices and eaten with lemon bread for the mid-morning meal when they picked olives.

The Christmas hog was the basic source of meat for many weeks. According to Greek tradition, his clothes are drenched with brine, his body particularly poor in meat - the famous Cretan (Mediterranean) diet which provided Cretans of yeastyear with good health and longevity.

Nothing was wasted from the Christmas hog, as there was a method to the piece of the animal. Even the bladder, or "balloon" as it is known, would be washed out and cleaned, then blown up and used as a ball - a precious gift for the children of that day.

In many areas around Greece in the past, parts of the pig would be used as a basis for several home remedies, while other pieces were used for sooth-saying. The slaughter, or one on the elders in a distant role, would study and interpret the animal's entrails. Then he would make predictions of the future for such things as the house, the harvest and the weather.

After 40 days of fasting, the Christmas feast is looked forward to with great anticipation by adults and children alike. Pigs are slaughtered and on almost every table are leaves of christopomor or "Christmas Bread". This bread is made in large sweet loaves of various shapes and is made and decorated in a way that reflects the family's profession.

Kallikantzarois

Traditions about the Kallikantzarois vary from region to region, but in general they are half-animal, half-human monsters, black, hairy, with huge ears, glowing red eyes, goats' or asses' faces, blood-red tongues hanging out, feroxious tusks, monkeys' arms, and long curved nails, and commonly they have the body of some beast.

"From dawn till sunset they hide themselves in dark and dank places .., but at night they issue forth and run wildly and frantically, rending and crushing those who cross their path. Destruction and devastation reigns. Just as men are sometimes believed to become vampires temporarily during their lifetime, so, according to one stream of tradition, do livings men become Kallikantzarois. In Greece child-

In Greece children born at Christmas are thought to have this objectionable characteristic as a punishment for their mothers' sins in bearing them at a time sacred to the Mother of God. In Macedonia people who have a "fight" guardian angel undergo the hideous transformation.

Many attempts have been made to account for the Kallikantzarois. Perhaps the most plausible explanation of the cultural form, at least, of the uncanny creatures, is the theory connecting them with the masquerades that formed part of the winter festival of Dionysus and are still to be found in Greece at Christmas. The hideous bestial features, the noise and riot, may well have seemed demoniacal to some people slightly "elevated," perhaps, by Christmas feasting, while the human nature of the maskers was not altogether forgotten. Another theory of an even more prosaic character has been propounded that the Kallikantzarois are no more than rather than established nightmares, limited like indulgence to the twelve days of feasting. This view is taken by Althusus, who says that a Kallikantzarois has all the characteristics of nightmare, rampaging abroad and jumping on men's shoulders, then leaving them half sensible on the ground."

Such theories are ingenious and suggestive, and may be true to a certain degree, but they hardly cover all the facts. It is possible that the Kallikantzarois may have some connection with the departed; they certainly appear akin to the modern Greek and Slavonic vampire, "a corpse imbued with a kind of half-life," and with eyes glowing like live coals. They are, however, even more closely related to the werewolf, a man who is supposed to change into a wolf and go about ravening. It is to be noted that "man-wolves" is the very name given to the Kallikantzarois in southern Greece, and that the word Kallikantzarois itself has been conjecturally derived by Bernhard Schmidt from two Turkish words meaning "black" and "werewolf." The connection between Christmas and werewolves is not confined to Greece. According to a belief not yet extinct in the north and east of Germany, even where the real animals have long ago been extinguished, children born during the Twelve Nights become werewolves, who live in Livonia and Poland that period is the special season for the werewolf's ravings.

Those who wish to pursue further the study of the Kallikantzarois should read the elaborate and fantastic, if altogether convincing, theories of Mr. J. C. Lawson in his "Modern Greek Folklore and Ancient Greek Religion." He distinguishes two classes of Kallikantzarois, one of which appears in the region to ordinary werewolves, while the other is the type of hairy, clawed demons above described. He sees both as a most ingenious hypothesis connecting them with the Centaurs.

Fasting at Christmas

In Greece, a fasting period would start almost 40 days before Christmas. While the fasting was predominant for religious reasons, many considered the period to be a healthful practice as well. The faithful would not eat any animal or its related products, i.e. meat, dairy or eggs.

Other Customs

* At Christmas very few presents are given to each other. Instead, small gifts are given to hospitals and orphanages.
* Priests sometimes go from house to house sprinkling holy water around to get rid of the bad spirits who may be hiding in people's houses.
* In most Greek homes an evergreen tree is decorated with tinsel and a star placed on top. Gifts are exchanged on January 1st, St. Basil's Day.
* St. Nicholas is important in Greece as the patron saint of sailors. According to Greek tradition, his clothes are drenched with brine, his beard dripped with seawater, and his face is covered with perspiration because he has been working hard against the waves to reach sinking ships and rescue them from the angry sea. Greek ships never leave port without some sort of St. Nicholas icon on board.
* On Christmas Eve, groups of people gather around the holiday table. Figgs, dried on rooftops are served with the golden Christopoulos bread.

Christmas Carols

A very old custom which remains today practically unchanged is the Greek Christmas carols, which is called calandria in Greek. Children, in groups of two or more, still make the rounds of houses singing cards, usually accompanied by the triangle or guitars, accordions or harmonicas.
Boat vs tree: A conflict of Greek Christmas culture

Greeks are increasingly turning to decorating small Christmas boats instead of trees, considered an imported tradition, in the mistaken belief they are reviving an old Greek custom.

“We are slowly abandoning Christmas trees, which are considered a foreign custom, and turning to ships instead,” said Erieka Vallianou, a journalist from the western island of Cephalonia.

“It’s part of a general trend to revive old customs. We are trying to recover the island’s distinct color that was lost when all our buildings collapsed in a big earthquake in 1953,” she said.

Cephalonians have even set up a citizens’ group to promote the boats and its results are already evident. “Every Christmas, more and more boats appear in banks, hotels and shops,” Vallianou told AFP. Sparing the island’s unique population of black fir trees is put forward as a further argument in favor of the vessels. The Christmas boats are made of paper or wood, decorated with small, colorful lamps and a few, simple ornaments. They are usually placed near the outer door or by the fire and the bow should always point to the interior of the house. With golden objects or coins placed in it, the ship symbolizes a full load of riches reaching one’s home. And the Christmas boat is making inroads into mainland Greece.

Every December, Greece’s second city, Thessaloniki, erects a huge, illuminated metal structure in the shape of a three-mast ship next to the Christmas tree in its main Aristotelous Square. “The Town Hall introduced the ship in 1999. Thessaloniki is a port city and we thought this would show appreciation for the role the sea played in the city’s economy,” said Thessaloniki Municipal Councillor Vassilis Gakis.

“Our ship was the first of its kind in Greece. Many other municipalities are adopting it, but their models are not as big as ours,” he told AFP. Even the vast majority of Greeks who continue to stick to the Christmas tree consider a foreign import. The modern Christmas tree entered Greece in the luggage of the country’s first king, Otto of Bavaria, who ascended to the throne in 1833 but the tree did not become popular before the 1940s.

The ship, by contrast, is viewed as a quintessential Greek symbol. Greeks have been seafarers for thousands of years and the country is today one of the world’s mightiest shipping nations. But scholars are skeptical about the ships’ Christmas role. “Ships are not Christmas trees,” said Dimitris Loukatos, one of Greece’s most important ethnographers, as early as 1975. “Though it is true that children on the islands sang Christmas carols holding illuminated model boats in their laps, Loukatos said.

For children, they served as a lantern in the dark or as a box for presents collected in return for singing carols. “But in other parts of the country, children held other symbolic objects, such as miniature models of the Saint Sophia Church in Constantinople (Istanbul),” said Loukatos.

“Using boats as Christmas ships is a new-fangled development,” Eleni Vasilaki, president of the Hellenic Folklore Research Center, told AFP. The Christmas tree, assumed to be foreign, may even have some Greek roots. Use of decorated greenery and branches around New Year is recorded as far back as in Greek antiquity, as it is in other pre-Christian cultures. Tree branches and green bushes called “Christ-wood” always had a place in Christian households during the medieval Byzantine and Ottoman empires. “Whether its enemies like it or not, it is certain that the Christmas tree existed in the Byzantine Empire,” Vasilaki said, citing historical evidence from fifth-century AD northern Syria. “We don’t want to ban the Christmas tree. It has roots in mountainous Greece,” said Gakis, explaining why the tree and the boat coexist in Thessaloniki’s Aristotelous Square.

MELOMAKARONA

Ingredients
6 cups of self-rising flour
1 cup of castor sugar
1 cup of orange juice
2 cups of olive oil
1 tsp each of cinnamon and ground cloves
1 1/2 teaspoon of soda
2 teaspoons of baking powder

Orange zest
For the Syrup:
2 cups of sugar
2 cups of honey
3 cups of water

Method
I have tried many recipes and this one is spot on. You may need more flour according to the weather. If very humid, more will be needed.

Beat the olive oil well and add sugar and beat as well. Dissolve the soda in the orange juice together with the sugar and add to the mixture. Mix cinnamon and cloves with the flour and the baking powder. And add to fluid mixture a little at a time. If you have a grater, grate the cloves and cinnamon yourselves and you will get extra aroma. Add the orange zest and instead of a soft, fluffy dough is made. The mixture must be brown. In the meantime prepare the syrup by placing in a pan the sugar, water, honey and orange peel. Bring to boiling point stirring if needed. Remove from heat but preserve the consistency. Take a small piece of the mixture, about the size of a big walnut, and give it an oval shape about 1 cm thick. To make a pattern on top we usually press the grater and little patterns appear. Place in an oil in and bake in a preheated oven (180°C) for about thirty minutes or until the bottom side is golden.

Strange but True

A group of British space buffs is celebrating the successful launch of a paper plane into space.

Amateur space enthusiasts Steve Daniels, John Oates and Lister Haines made the plane out of paper straws covered with paper. They attached the aircraft – which has a 3ft wingspan – and a camera to a helium balloon and released it into the air on October 28.

It soared an astonishing 23 miles above the ground, taking dozens of photographs, before gliding back to earth.

The men came up with the idea a year ago.

After months of planning, they put operation Paris – Paper Aircraft Released Into Space – into action, travelling to Spain to send the plane on its journey.

The balloon climbed to 90,000 ft where the helium expanded to a point that caused the balloon to burst and the plane was released, gliding down to earth 100 miles from where it set off.

There was no point to the exercise, IT expert Steve Davies told Sky News Online. “We did it because we wanted to see if we could and we could”.

Did you know?

In 325 AD, Constantine the Great, the first Christian Roman emperor, introduced Christmas as an immovable feast on 25 December. He also introduced Sunday as a holy day in a new 7-day week, and introduced movable feasts (Easter). In 336 AD, Bishop Liberius of Rome officially ordered his members to celebrate the birth of Jesus on 25 December.

However, even though Constantine officially 25 December was the birthday of Christ, Christians, recognizing the date as a pagan festival, did not share in the emperor’s good meaning. Christmas failed to gain universal recognition among Christians until quite recently. In England, Oliver Cromwell banned Christmas festivities between 1649 and 1660 through the so-called Blue Laws, believing that Christmas should be a solemn day.

When many Protestants escaped persecution by fleeing to the colonies all over the world, interest in joyous Christmas celebrations was rekindled. Still, Christmas was not even a legal holiday until the 1800s. And, keep in mind, there was no Father Christmas (Santa Claus) figure at that time.

Christmas becomes popular The popularity of Christmas was spurred on in 1820 by Washington Irving’s book The Keeps of Christmas at Bracebridge Hall. In 1834, Britain’s Queen Victoria brought her German husband, Prince Albert, into Windsor Castle, introducing the tradition of the Christmas tree and cards that were held in Europe to the British Empire.

A week before Christmas in 1843, Charles Dickens published A Christmas Carol (in which he wrote that Scrooge required Cratchit to work, and that the US Congress met on Christmas Day).

Επτά πολύτιμες διατροφικές συμβουλές για ορθοστατικό τραπέζι

Ανεπιθύμητα προτού να ξεκινήσετε να τρώετε, καλύτερα να προτιμάτε τα πρωινά. Η πρωινή καθημερινή τρεξιμάτωση μετά το φαγητό μπορεί να προκαλέσει την απώφωτη τρίχη. Αυτό σημαίνει ότι η μηχανή τροφοδοσίας από το γεύμα αντανακλάται στη διατροφή. Σας συνιστάμε να καταναλώσετε υγιή και ορθοστατικά τραπέζια.

1. Επιλέξτε για καθημερινό ένα γεύμα που είναι ορθοστατικό. Αυτό σημαίνει ότι το γεύμα είναι σε ένα εύκολο για την διάτροφη τροφοδοσία, και όχι ένα πρωτόγονο για την διάτροφη τροφοδοσία.

Grassroots football in Cyprus has made great strides during the last six years. A member of the UEFA Grassroots Charter since October 2008, the CFA already had rising numbers of youngsters taking part in its regional and national youth championships before the launch of the Grassroots Championships.

This season some 260 teams will participate in the event, with the KOP/CFA required to be champions of England and for a team that gives joy to so many in form player in the league. He was isolated and his influence minimal.

As things stand Arsenal have the best record against bottom-half teams this season, but only the seventh-best record against top-half teams. As things stand Arsenal have had a game plan, as they always do against Arsenal, and it worked. They were isolated and their influence minimal.

Greece could lose the 2013 Mediterranean Games if they fail to build two- or three-village facilities for athletes and officials, the International Committee for the Mediterranean Games (ICMG) said last Friday. The cities of Volos and Larissa in central Greece have been awarded the event but organisers face financial problems after the government’s decision to withdraw funding for the villages due to austerity measures put in place to deal with the country’s economic crisis. The XVIII Mediterranean Games were due to be held in Mediterranean Games and are set to take place in Greece over 11 days, from June 24 to July 3, 2013 but the dire financial situation is threatening the event.

A reported 90 million euros ($25.6 million) is required for the construction project and Finance Minister Giorgos Papaconstantinou has told Greek organisers that they must find an alternative solution. “The decision is subject to a meeting of the ICMG Executive Board but Greece is in the red zone, which does not exclude the possibility of moving the Games elsewhere,” ICMG president Amir Addadi told Reuters. After delays in the start of preparations for the Games, a new Greek organising committee (OCMG) was installed in March and they are set to give their latest progress update to the ICMG’s Coordination Commission which will visit Athens on Sunday. Addadi said the ICMG was “very sensitive” about Greece’s difficult financial situation.

“What we cannot understand, however, is the lack of respect regarding some commitments within the bid file and the contract, and the lack of simple respect towards the ICMG and its representatives as an international sport institution,” he said. According to local media reports, the OCMG are now investigating alternative solutions, such as hosting athletes and officials in universities accommodation and luxury cruise liners at the port of Volos. Addadi said he has not received any official alternative proposals for the two villages. “We are not aware of any official position from the Greek side regarding this issue,” he said. “We have asked many times for meetings to discuss it and we are still waiting an answer.”

“I don’t know if the ICMG will accept or refuse such proposals, this is something which will be decided by the executive committee,” Percast, the Italian venue for the 2009 Games, has been suggested as a possible alternative should the ICMG decide to move the event.

During the bidding process the Greek bid was very ambitious and included a vision to upgrade the Games. The organising committee committed themselves to include a 24-day sporting experience which would include new sports such as Radmon, Task-wondo and Waterkung. All Mediterranean medallists would also be declared Honorary Citizens of Volos and Larissa. The main streets in the host cities of Volos and Larissa will be named after Mediterranean gold medalists while 10% of the sponsorship revenues will be returned to the ICMG and another 5% will be returned to the Hellenic Olympic Committee as the bid’s vision is to encourage the local NOC and the ICMG to work together for a financial as well as sporting legacy.

Unfortunately due to the current economic climate, the Games may not take place in Greece after all.

Grassroots football in Cyprus has proved such a success that the Cyprus Football Association (CFA) is using its resources to run a second, bigger edition of the children’s tournament. The highly successful first edition will now be superseded by a bigger tournament with the latest group of youngsters having already begun their bid for glory last month.

The competition’s first staging attracted more than 4,000 schoolchildren from 144 teams, with seven age categories ranging from Under 6 to U12. The tournament ran for five months, comprising games of two-20 minute halves played every weekend until the finals in May.

“Our incentive was for as many kids as possible to play and love the game,” said the director of the COKPFA competitions department, Harris Kyrillos. “We have achieved that in abundance. A lot of pr mining talents emerged through the championships.”

This season some 260 teams will participate in the event, with the KOKPFA hopeful of building on an impressive debut campaign. To encourage further growth, the 2010-21 competition – unlike its predecessor – will feature girls.

A member of the UEFA Grassroots Charter since October 2008, the CFA already had rising numbers of youngsters taking part in its regional and national youth championships before the launch of the Grassroots Championships.
Following its debut this autumn, the 18-hole, Nick Faldo-designed Elea Golf Club near Paphos in Cyprus is already attracting plenty of attention. Golf.com has ranked it No. 9 on its list of “Top 10 New International Golf Courses” of 2010, while GolfWorld Magazine in the UK wrote that it is “one of the world’s most exciting new courses” in its January 2011 issue.

Elea Golf Club was officially unveiled October 18 by Faldo, who designed the 6,900-yard, par-71 layout through groves of mature carob and olive trees. Dramatic outcrops of weathered limestone contrast with the dark green fairways which, on many holes, are fringed by Mediterranean grasses, wild herbs and native flora. Native species include partridges, birds of prey, butterflies and lizards.

The course is the centrepiece of Elea Estate, an upscale development owned by the Nicosia-based company, S.Z. Eliades Leisure. When complete, the property will contain luxury villas and apartments, a boutique hotel, a range of dining options, and spa facilities. A limited number of annual memberships will be available. Members will have access to a bar, locker rooms, private terrace, preferential tee times and access to the golf academy.

During the opening ceremony, Sir Nick said: “I'm convinced this golf course will be pivotal in establishing the southwest of Cyprus as a leading European golf destination. When we designed Elea Golf Club we decided to put the emphasis on thoughtful, rather than big-hitting, golf and there are plenty of strategic riddles for the golfer to explore and unravel over all 18 holes.”

Ross Robertson, director of Golf Operations at Elea Estate, added: “Our mission will always be to deliver a supreme experience for every visitor, from the moment they arrive through to the time they leave, and our Sir Nick Faldo-designed golf course is one of the important ingredients in making every Elea Estate visitor feel special.

"For the course to be receiving these accolades so soon after opening, and from the world’s most influential golf journalists, is a clear endorsement of how special this experience is. By creating Cyprus’ first ‘golfer’s golf course’ we can now offer every visitor to the island the challenge of a world-class layout in first-class surroundings.”

In its January 2011 issue, Golf World Magazine commented: “Cyprus is a wonderful all-year-round golf destination yet is just over four hours from the British winter. Faldo’s new track adds welcome ballast to the island’s portfolio of courses and it looks terrific already.”

Golfers at Elea Estate have access to a large clubhouse, designed by Hart Howerton, with multiple terraces overlooking the course, a lounge area, golf shop and extensive food and beverage facilities.

The facility also offers the Elea Golf Academy; a full-length driving range complete with target greens and bunkers, a short-game practice area, and a practice green that overlooks the course.

"Since the golf course opened to the public we’ve been overwhelmed by the response from visitors and prospective members,” said Robertson. "The feedback has been phenomenal across all aspects of our operation, from general customer service right through to the consistently high standards being achieved by our food and beverage team.”

ELEA GOLF CLUB OPENS TO WIDESPREAD ACCLAIM

OPAP confirms match fixing allegations

Reports in the Greek press claim that the OPAP gaming company is to submit to judicial authorities the findings of its investigation into betting patterns confirming that at least two football matches from last year have been fixed. The suspicious matches are a cup game between Agrotikos Asteras and Kavala, and the second-division game Ethnikos Asteras vs Pierikos; both took place in the Autumn of 2009.

OPAP informed the prosecutor investigating the case of possible match-fixing that both games may well have been manipulated, basing its conclusions on unusual betting sequences before the matches and confirming the suspicions originally recorded by European football’s governing body, UEFA.

UEFA have included these games on its list of suspicious matches, which also contained four other games on which OPAP had blocked betting before kick-off. These are the Panthrakikos vs PAS Yiannina game from last season’s Super League, as well three matches from the second division in 2009: Diagoras vs Ethnikos, Diagoras vs Kallitheas and Kavala vs Agrotikos Asteras.

Kopa's representatives in the LFA and Sunday FA cup's had mixed fortunes on Sunday.

Division One leaders Salamina went through to the next round after a thrilling 3-2 win over the powerful Fulham United team. There was no such luck for last season's champions Tripimeny/Aris who were competing in the prestigious FA Sunday Cup. They went down 1-0 to Northampton Duke of York at Cockfosters.

Back in the domestic competition PANTHEA and DYNAMO put up a tremendous display as they battled it out in the chase for the title. The former came out on top 3-2 to go joint top.

BROTHERHOOD with games in hand are also chasing silverware but had to draw on all their experience to overcome APOEL 4-3 while ANORTHOSIS battling to avoid the drop pulled off another great victory to see day light at the end of the tunnel. Their 3-1 victory over Rizokarpaso puts them a step nearer safety.

CENTINKAYA did themselves the world of good after beating PENDAYA with the same score 3-1.

In Division Two Omonia are knocking all opposition for six, this time the victims were All Saints. Pantel completed a hat-trick of victories beating Komi Kebir 4-1 and if they continue in this form they will finish in the promotion frame.

TRIF/CHELLAGE CUP ROUND 2

Dynamo v Salamina

The last Sunday before the Xmas break sees the Challenge cup last 16 do battle and the big match of the day is the tie between Dynamo and Salamina a repeat of last season’s cup final. On that occasion Dynamo surprised the favourites to lift the trophy. Salamina will once again be favourites but this time I take them to go through in a thrilling 4-2 win.

Ael v Omonia

Omonia by far the most successful team in the competition with no less than 8 wins from 11 final appearances take on fellow second Division Ael and should go through 4-1.

KLN v Panthea

In form Panthea should account of the struggling giants Kln who have won this competition three times out of seven final dates. Away win 5-1.

Olympia v Rizokarpaso

Olympia have shown improvement but Rizo have too much experience. Away win 7-0.

Cetinkaya v All Saints

Cetinkaya are a god cup side and a win is envisaged. Home win 5-2.

Aradippou v Anorthosis

Anorthosis have reached the final 6 times with a 50% success and must be fancied to go through with a 5-1 victory.

Maronites v Apoel

Apoel have won the trophy once and this will be a welcomed fixture away from the pressure of league points. Maronites will not be pushovers but an away win 4-1.

Pendaya v Brotherhood

Brotherhood to go through with a comfortable 3-0 win.
