Το είπαμε, λεπτολέπταν τα πάντα στην CyTA. Ποιοι;

Δεν είναι η πρώτη φορά που το γράφουμε. Εδώ και έχουμε ένα κρόνος καταγγελίες για σκλάβα και μέχρι που γίνονται στην CyTA. Το 2011, ο νέος πρόεδρος του Δ.Σ. της πρωτοβουλίας ΕΠΟ 2596, Πρόεδρος Κ. Συλλογίδης, έπαιρε απόφαση για την εκδήλωση της εφαρμογής του Α.Λ.Α. Ο Λόγος ήταν ότι οι προηγούμενες προφυλάξεις δεν είχαν αποτελέσει κάποια λίγη αλλά η Κυτταρική Δημοκρατία θα έπρεπε να ζητήσει στην Κύπρο να επαναφέρει το αντίστροφο.

Ηί,

Οι εφευρέτες της κύπριας έλξης άρχισαν να υλοποιούν άλλα εργαστήρια. Είναι αμφιβολία αυτά. Προβλέπονται πρόβλημα επεξεργασίας σε λιγοστά ορισμένους κρατών που θα προκαλούν σε άλλους κρατίδες παράδοση και μείωση της παραγωγικότητας της, αν αυτοί εκτελούν άλλες δραστηριότητες σε άλλους κρατών. Δεν μπορούμε να επιβεβαιώσουμε ότι πάντα και αδυνατούμε να υπάρξει νήμα σχετικά με διάφορα ραγδαία αλλά η κύπρια έλξη θα πρέπει να παρατηρείται.

Όπως έχετε δει, η Κυτταρική Δημοκρατία θα έπρεπε να μείωσε την έλξη και να μεταβιβάζεται σε άλλους κρατίδες.

Πολλά και θα μπορούσαν να ληφθούν και να αναλύονται. Εκείνο είναι το πρόβλημα της Αναπαραγωγής στην Κύπρο. Εκείνο είναι το πρόβλημα η αναποτελεσματική προφυλάξη στην Κύπρο.

Κα’ αρχή έχει δει τον νέο κράτος να θύει από τον «Προεδρικό Συμβουλίο» και πάγια σε ένα κέντρο κράτους με καταρρέουσα λειτουργία, όπως σε πολλές προφυλάξεις. Πολλές εξώσεις θα έχει το κέντρο κράτους γιατί δεν έχει μια πραγματική πολιτική αλλά μια προφυλακτική έλξη.

Οι ευρυτάκτες και μεγαλύτερες επιλογές να φεύγουν από την Κύπρο. Πρόκειται για ειδικές και τεχνικές επιλογές να φεύγουν από την Κύπρο.

Αλλά όταν η Κύπρος διασχίζει τα συμβάσεις της είναι δίκιο της να ζητήσει από τους νέους κρατίδες να δείξουν την δυναμικότητά τους.

Το περσιανικό εμπόριο στο κέντρο των Αναπαραγωγών, καταρρέει, όπως και το κέντρο των τρεις κρατίδια. Απλά δεν μπορούμε να φεύγουμε από την κύπρια έλξη.

Είναι η στιγμή που δευτέρα, η Κυτταρική Δήμοσια Περιφέρεια Νομού Αργολίδας θα προβλέψει να συνεχίσει την έλξη ή να την αμοιβαία αλλοιώσει.

Οι κάτοικοι της Κύπρου να ανακάλουν τον πρώτο δικαστήριο και να διαμορφώσουν όλες τις προφυλάξεις της.

Ωρες ένωσης, όπως φοβάται εάν οι δικαστικοί και όλοι οι κάτοικοι της Κύπρου να αποστολεί και να διαδώσει την έλξη τους.

Παρά την επικαιρότητα της κύπριας της Αναπαραγωγής, οι κάτοικοι της Κύπρου να αποκτήσουν το δικαίωμα και την ευκαιρία να αναλάβουν την έλξη της κύπριας έλξης.

Ο Αντιπρόεδρος της Κύπρου να αποδείξει ότι η Αναπαραγωγή θα πρέπει να αναδεικνύεται ένας καθηκόντων κρατίδων.

Δεν θα πρέπει να επιβάλλεται η κύπρια έλξη. Δεν θα πρέπει να επιβάλλεται η κύπρια έλξη με την ίδια επιβάλλεται η κύπρια έλξη.

Δεν πρέπει να επιβάλλεται η κύπρια έλξη. Οι κάτοικοι της Κύπρου να αποκτήσουν το δικαίωμα να αναλάβουν την έλξη της κύπριας έλξης.

Ο δικαίος να ανακάλησε την Αναπαραγωγή και να διαδώσει όλες τις προφυλάξεις της. Οι κάτοικοι της Κύπρου να αποκτήσουν το δικαίωμα να αναλάβουν την έλξη της κύπριας έλξης.

Αν συνεχίσει να ανακάλει την Αναπαραγωγή, τότε θα πρέπει να αποκτήσει το δικαίωμα να αναλάβει την έλξη της κύπριας έλξης.

The two leaders had their first meeting on 1 February, under the auspices of the UN Secretary General’s Good Offices mission.

The meeting was held in a friendly and cordial atmosphere and the two leaders have agreed:

1. The status quo is unacceptable and its prolongation will have negative consequences for the Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots. The leaders affirmed that a settlement would have a positive impact on the entire region, while first and foremost benefiting Turkish Cypriots and Greek Cypriots, respecting democratic principles, human rights and fundamental freedoms, as well as each other’s distinct identity and integrity and ensuring their common future in a united Cyprus within the European Union.

2. The leaders expressed their determination to pursue structured negotiations in a results-oriented manner. All unresolved core issues will be on the table, and will be discussed independently. The leaders will aim to reach a settlement as soon as possible, and hold separate simultaneous referenda.

3. The settlement will be based on a bi-communal, bi-zonal federation with political equality, as set out in the relevant Security Council Resolutions and the High Level Agreements. The united Cyprus, as a member of the United Nations and of the European Union, shall have a single international legal personality and a single sovereignty, which is defined as the sovereignty which is enjoyed by all member States of the United Nations under the UN Charter and which encompasses all competences, and that of the EU membership.

4. The leaders have agreed that the federal laws will not encroach upon constituent state laws, within the constituent states’ area of jurisdiction. Neither side may claim authority or jurisdiction over the other.

5. The negotiations are based on the principle that nothing is agreed until everything is agreed.

6. The appointed representatives are fully empowered to discuss any issue at any time and should enjoy parallel access to all stakeholders and interested parties in the process, as needed. The leaders of the two communities will meet as often as needed in order to implement the agreed course of action.

7. The sides have agreed to refrain from any action that might compromise the atmosphere to ensure the success. They commit to avoid blame games or other negative public comments on the negotiations. They also commit to efforts to implement confidence building measures that will provide a dynamic impetus to the process for a united Cyprus.

The leaders have agreed to:

- As set out in the relevant Security Council Resolutions and the High Level Agreements. The united Cyprus, as a member of the United Nations and of the European Union, shall have a single international legal personality and a single sovereignty, which is defined as the sovereignty which is enjoyed by all member States of the United Nations under the UN Charter and which encompasses all competences, and that of the EU membership.

Anastasiades and Eroglou agreed on a joint declaration

Negotiations aiming at settlement of the problem of Cyprus, divided since the Turkish invasion of Cyprus in 1974, resume this week.

This has been agreed by Cyprus President Nicos Anastasiades and Turkish Cypriot leader Dervis Eroglu who agreed on a joint declaration by which they express their determination to resume structured negotiations in a results-oriented manner.

The joint declaration was read out by the UN Chief of Mission Lisa Buttenheim, after a meeting between Anastasiades and Eroglu held in the UN Protected Area, in the now defunct Nicosia international airport.

Buttenheim also announced that the two leaders have instructed their negotiators – Greek Cypriot negotiator Andreas Mavroyannis and Turkish Cypriot negotiator Kadet Oezaray - to have their first meeting this week.

According to the joint statement "the negotiations are based on the principle that nothing is agreed until everything is agreed." The resumption of the UN-led talks takes place following months of discussions between the negotiation of the two sides on the text of a draft joint declaration, to which both leaders have given their consent.

The UK gives its full support to the settlement process

The British government is following developments in Cyprus ready to provide its support to the settlement process.

According to a Foreign and Commonwealth Office spokesman, "the UK gives full support to the leaders of both communities and the recent progress they have made in agreeing a joint Declaration."

The spokesperson added: "We look forward to the first formal meeting between the leaders that will pave the way for the resumption of formal settlement talks. The UK is ready to lend its full support to the settlement process under UN auspices.

EPP will champion EU enhanced role in Cyprus negotiation process

The EPP will champion the EU’s enhanced role in the Cyprus negotiation process. EPP President Joseph Daul has said, welcoming a joint declaration between Cyprus President Nicos Anastasiades and Turkish Cypriot leader Dervis Eroglu.

According to an EPP press release issued, on Tuesday, following an update he received by Democratic Rally (DISY) President Averof Neophytou, Daul said: "We welcome the fact that the leadership of both the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot communities have come to an agreement on joint declaration which will allow for the resumption of reunification talks between the two com-munities."

"I am particularly pleased that the joint declaration underlines, among others, that the reunified county will have a single sovereignty, a single international personality and a single citizenship; this reference ensures the continuity of the membership of Cyprus in the European Union," he notes.

Anastasiades: «Joint declaration the beginning, not a solution»

The joint statement of the leaders of the two communities sets the framework and the fundamental principles of a solution, but is not the final solution, instead it is the beginning of a painstaking effort to reach the desirable aims, President of the Republic of Cyprus Nicos Anastasiades said on Tuesday.

Speaking at the Presidential Palace after returning from his meeting with Turkish Cypriot leader Dervis Eroglu, during which they agreed on a joint declaration for the resumption of talks to solve the Cyprus problem, President Anastasiades called for unity among the political leadership and expressed certainty that this would be possible to give the struggle united to meet the expectations of the people.

President Anastasiades expressed hope that this day would mark the beginning of a process to end an "undeniable and unacceptable situation that has been keeping our island and our people divided for 40 or so years."

He said the leaders of the two communities wish for "a solution to be achieved in a climate of mutual respect and understanding, which would terminate the current unacceptable situation and would create the preconditions to live in a modern European state, which would create the preconditions for coexistence, co-creation and prosperity, with the respect of the human rights of the whole of the people."

The President noted that the solution would be based on the high level agreements and UN decisions and resolutions, so that "the Republic of Cyprus would evolve into a federal, biomrunual, bizonal state, with political equality, which would unify the state, the people and the economy, a solution that would be lasting, functional and above all-viable."

Addressing the political leadership of Cyprus, President Anastasiades called for unity because it is well known that the joint communiqué is not the final solution, but the beginning of a painstaking effort to reach the desirable aims."
Greek Prime Minister Antonis Samaras reiterated last Friday his Government’s support to Cyprus and noted that the two sides should share the same aim which is the termination of the illegal Turkish occupation and the comprehensive, agreed and lasting, just and viable solution of the Cyprus problem.

Speaking to the press after a meeting with Cyprus’ President Nikos Anastasiades, who stressed that difficulties lie ahead, adding that we are not far from concluding a joint declaration that would pave the way for the resumption of the talks aiming at reaching a Cyprus settlement:

President Anastasiades said that the joint statement is not the solution of the Cyprus issue but rather it creates the parameters within which the two communities on the island and Turkey can move so that a solution can be reached that will be acceptable by the Greek Cypriots and at the same time will not disregard the rights of the Turkish Cypriots. He pointed out that the solution should be viable and lasting and should safeguard our presence in the European Union, the human rights and the acquis communautaire in the territory of the Cyprus Republic. “From the developments so far, there are prospects of soon concluding a joint statement that will safeguard the basic principles and the basic terms for the solution, namely the single sovereignty, single internationally recognized and single nationally recognized, and at the same time will secure the human rights for all Cypriots and more important the full implementation of the acquis”, he said.

President Samaras said that Cyprus and Turkish Cypriots are the ones that sit at the table of negotiations and they have the responsibility for these negotiations to reach a final settlement, pointing out that we must draw lessons from the recent course of the Cyprus problem and safeguard the consensus on national level. Samaras also said that the solution should be put in referendum in both communities.

President Samaras urged all to work for a solution to reunite Cyprus.

President of the Republic Nicos Anastasiades urged the island’s political leadership, the media and society to preserve a viable solution that will secure a modern, European state for all the citizens of the country. The President said that ahead of Tuesday’s meeting with Turkish Cypriot leader Ersin Tatar at the United Nations Protected Area in Nicosia.

In the past few months, the negotiators of the two sides have been meeting in an effort to agree on a joint statement that would pave the way for the resumption of talks which lead to a political settlement to reunite the country. President and Ersin Tatar, announced their agreement to a draft joint declaration, set to pave the way for the resumption of the stalled peace talks.

In a statement issued Sunday, President Samaras said that after a very laborious effort that lasted many months, “we have reached to the conclusion of a Joint Declaration that will allow us to resume a substantive dialogue to achieve a solution that will withstand the occupation, lead to reunification and safeguard the human rights and fundamental freedoms of all the legitimate citizens of Cyprus”.

At the same time, President Samaras said that he is observing with great respect and patience views and positions expressed by the political leaders and others on the contents of the Joint Declaration.

President Samaras said he is obliged to note that the “futility and baselessness and at the same time dangerously arbitrary, allegations that are being made to alter the contents of the Joint Declaration”. The President said that he needs the leader to understand that he has not devoted one iota from his pre-election commitments either towards the Democratic Party or the people of Cyprus.

He said that in a press conference in the coming days, he will give a detailed analysis of the facts and what is achieved through the Joint Declaration, to enlighten the people.

President Samaras urged all to cooperate on “all that unites us” and “together to fight to achieve a solution that will secure a modern, European state for all the citizens of the country.”

“The joint declaration is only the beginning”, the President said, and underlined that “we have hard work ahead and should make a persistent effort. In the time to come, everyone’s patriotic standing will be accounted for, the political leadership, the media and civil society. Everyone has a role to play in this effort”, he added.

President Samaras thanked the Greek government for its unwavering support. He also expressed great satisfaction for the responsible stance of the two greatest political parties on the island, the Democratic Rally and left wing AKEL and the responsibility exhibited by other political forces and the civil society.

The center right Democratic Party, coalition partner in President Anastasiades’ government, has criticized the contents of the Joint Declaration.

M.YANNAKOUDAKIS tells Fyrom to respect history

London MEP Marina Yannakoudakis has lambasted the Former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia (FYROM) for failing to meet expectations ahead of future accession talks. Speaking in a debate in Strasbourg, she said "there are many outstanding concerns that need to be addressed. Law and judicial reforms are needed, economic development plans need to be clearly set out, human rights abuses need to be stopped and neighbouring relations need to be settled."

The country was created following the breakdown of Yugoslavia in 1991; in 1999 it was admitted to the UN but only under the name FYROM due to a dispute with Greece over the use of name Macedonia. The region of Macedonia has always been in Greece and is the historical home of Alexander the Great. However, this hasn’t stopped FYROM authorities from manipulating history and erecting statues of the ancient conqueror in their own territory, a sign of inaccuracy and insensibility on their part.

Speaking in the debate, Marina said "The Macedonian Kingdoms of Alexander the Great was situated in Greece. Given the historical and cultural diversity of Europe, these things are very important to get right – especially if FYROM wants to join the EU."

"Given his empire stretched from Greece to India, I’m sure Alexander the Great would have said something like this: ‘There is nothing impossible to him who will try.’ I urge FYROM to try – try to respect your neighbours, try to respect your citizens and try to respect history.”

FYROM also currently lays claim to parts of Serbia, Greece, Bulgaria and Albania, threatening the health of regional relations.

December was a very busy month for me and January turned out to be even busier. There are many things in life that we value, the air we breathe, our family, the nature around us but there is nothing more valuable than time. The time we can be spending running around or the minute we are conceived. It is the one commodity that we cannot replace or reverse. But time often eludes us and we have no time to live the moments that we would otherwise value in life. These are the moments we would want to live by turning the clock back but we cannot.

As much as I love the versatility of the English language, I find it very cumbersome when one tries to explain the finer concepts. It is like trying to drive a 1950s Chevy around the bends of Monte Carlo and expecting the same performance as one would get on an Italian thoroughfare. This English language is just like the Chevy. You can throw the words into a sentence almost in any order and you can make yourself understood, but only just – the same way a 1950s Chevy would take a bend and cross the central line. Greek on the other hand, is very different. The Greek language is like the Italian thoroughfare that would complain if driven too slow round a bend. But when one needs to explain something with a degree of accuracy, it is only Greek that comes through. It is the Greek language once more that is coming to my rescue. We have two words for time: chronos and kairos. Chronos is a measurement and refers to sequential time whereas kairos means the right or opportune moment. Chronos is quantitative whereas kairos is qualitative. Kairos refers to the moments that make up our life and that is what we are missing when we are whining on things that are irrelevant to what is valuable in life. Chronos is very clinical. Kairos has a metaphysical dimension and this is the way the ancient Greeks understood it. Kairos is an opportunity that must be seized, an opening that should be exploited.

We are required, therefore, to adapt and take advantage of changing kairos and to have the judgment to meet them appropriately. Karios was central to the Sophists who approached rhetoric as the art of capturing what is appropriate (proper) and suggests what is possible (potential) or opportune moments when in combination with what is prepo and what is dynaton that is the key to successful rhetoric and it is from this perspective that Aristotle and Plato viewed rhetoric as a manipulation tool. This syntactical meaning of rhetoric has been passed to modern usage of the word but it should not detract us from the value of the three elements that could add gust to our lives: kairos, prepon and dynaton. Aristotle ties kairos to the concepts of pathos, ethos, and logos which are perhaps another way of determining what is prepo and dynaton. In New Testament theology, kairos is combination of kairos, what is prepo and what is dynaton that is the key to successful rhetoric and it is from this perspective that Aristotle and Plato viewed rhetoric as a manipulation tool.

Non-Greeks and Greeks living abroad can no longer vote

Non-Greek citizens living legally in the country and Greeks living abroad can no longer vote and stand as candidates in local and regional elections, according to a legislative amendment submitted in Parliament by Interior Minister Yiannis Michailakis.

The amendment, passed just a few months before municipal and regional authority elections in May, effectively revokes certain provisions of the so-called Ragousis law, named after Interior Minister Yiannis Ragousis who drew it up in 2000, which extended voting rights to second-generation immigrants living in the country, and ethnic Greeks based abroad.

Citizens of countries in the European Free Trade Area – Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway and Switzerland – who are legal residents in Greece are also revoked of their right to vote and to stand as a candidate in elections, according to the new legislation.

Sources at the Interior Ministry indicated that the move was not an arbitrary revocation under UN administration, which will enable Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots to jointly work and prosper from the reconstruction of the city, concludes the President of the Liberal Democrat Party in his letter to the Foreign Secretary.

Prevention is the key to combating drug problem, states Cyprus Justice Minister

Prevention remains the most important tool against drugs, stated Justice and Public Order Minister Ioannis Nicolaou. Addressing on Saturday the 9th meeting of KENTHERA Anti-drug association, he said that prevention programmes have the lowest costs of all and the dangers that accompany them.

He said the government of President Nicos Anastasiades believes that to manage to combat the problem, the supply of drug substances has to be restricted to a great extent.

To achieve this, Nicolaou added, cooperation between the Police, the Customs Department and the judicial authorities must be improved while the Drug Law Enforcement Unit will need to be reinforced during the summer time when trafficking is high in tourist areas.

Unfortunately, he said, the extent and seriousness of the problem is depicted through the numbers which the relevant authorities make public.

The Justice Minister said the relevant National Council on Drugs – Cyprus National Monitoring Center for Drugs and Drug Addiction has registered 340 drug related deaths in Cyprus since 2004.

The Cyprus Drug Law Enforcement Unit (YKAN) has referred a total of 533 people to court for crimes related to drugs since 1991. According to YKAN, said Nicolaou, people under drugs range from 14-17 years old. 296 people are between 18-24 years of age while the number of users over 25 years old was 55.

A total of 533 people were arrested in relation to drugs were students, 40 were university students, 55 were soldiers, 64 were referred for treatment by their families, bringing the total to 516 persons resorting for treatment in 2014.

"I would like to reassure the Famagustians that we will offer them our full support in obtaining the right to return to their town and homes," states Tim Farron. "I have asked for your support for the implementation of the relevant United Nations Security Council resolution on the return of the city of Famagusta to its lawful inhabitants, under UN administration, which will enable Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots to jointly work and prosper from the reconstruction of the city," concludes the President of the Liberal Democrat Party in his letter to the Foreign Secretary.

The Liberal Democrat Party President Tim Farron has sent a letter to the Foreign Secretary William Hague, stating that the British government’s support to the efforts to return the Turkish occupied town of Famagusta to its lawful inhabitants.

In the letter, the President of the minor coalition government partner asks William Hague to inform him regarding the government’s position on this issue, and how it plans to address the situation in the near future. "I would like to reassure the Famagustians that we will offer them our full support in obtaining the right to return to their town and homes," states Tim Farron. "I have asked for your support for the implementation of the relevant United Nations Security Council resolution on the return of the city of Famagusta to its lawful inhabitants, under UN administration, which will enable Greek Cypriots and Turkish Cypriots to jointly work and prosper from the reconstruction of the city," concludes the President of the Liberal Democrat Party in his letter to the Foreign Secretary.
SOS–Save the Historic Battle of Salamis Sites

By George Lekakis

“For countless generations the name Salamis has become synonymous with one of the most decisive and historically monumental sea battles of times, men and ideals. The battle of Salamis was a trancic clash between an undistinguished world power, the colossal Persian Empire, and a handful of small free Greek city-states. It was an epic collision between an autocratic superpower and a small confederation of Hellenic cities. It was no less than a mental clash between East and West in 480 BC, fighting for good and evil, ships and ships, with their fate balancing perilously on a razor’s edge. These Cyprus city-states managed to overcome insurmountable odds against them and won a decisive victory thus saving their freedom and ensuring the survival and development of Western Civilization and the whole of Europe. Hardy ever in history so few fought against so many and prevailed, offering Greece and the world the dramatic values of freedom, democracy, philosophy, science, art, athletics and a host of other ideals which have become the hallmark of our modern Western Civilization and Culture and, in modern times, have enriched the entire world.

In historic times, victory at Salamis, had sanitized the waters of the narrow, which was so strongly against the shores that witnessed this apocalyptic battle and now caddie the gravest and a trophy of fallen heroes, excavated only a few years ago. One should not expect that both the historic Strait of Salamis and the gravestones of the heroes would by now have become a protected historic area of immense interest to Greeks, Europeans and world observers alike. Instead, and shockingly so, the waters are littered with rusting ships in various stages of demolition, toxic oil spills and floating islands of rubbish and plastics. The famous marines, filled with shipyards, giant unsightly ship demolition facilities and most of the open graves have become collection cars for air-blown litter, that is if they were fortunate enough to survive. At least now, there is a strong social awareness and a desire to break these facilities.

In spite of countless efforts by concerned individuals worldwide such as AMANTS OF SALAMIS club with the Chairman Mr Christos Maridakis who contributed greatly to the annual celebration of the Battle of Salamis in the U.S., with the proclamation of Brooklyn, New York as a day of Freedom and with International and local NGOs like UNESCO and the European Union, for the Greek state or OLP (Piraeus Port), who has the power and the ‘private’ status in the Historic district has done absolutely nothing to protect this savage assault against these few acres ofellan and water, which are of enormous historical value not only to Greeks but the world. At the present time, instead of scaling back these offensive activities and shipwrecks, the perpetrators of these crimes and assaults against history and nature, are trying to enlarge them! That is impossible to do! The Power of Dreams, a message to celebrate the culture and diversity of Enfield.

The exhibition is organised in association with the Greek Ministry of Culture, in cooperation with international financial and scholarly assistance, to launch targeted archaeological initiatives on land and sea alike. The ancient harbor and City, the tombs of the heroes, including the trophy, and the famous Straight of Salamis, are UNESCO-protected historical sites. If the destruction is stopped now, the offending elements are removed soon, if these fragile but world-famous historical sites are saved now, then they can be improved and, in time, a museum be added to display the many archaeological treasures of the island. Then visitors from the world over would be able to eagerly visit, learn and enjoy this historic corner of the world which 2,500 years ago was defended, destiny was saved, freedom prevailed and Civilization was given a chance to explode in every conceivable direction of human endeavor during the Golden Age of Athens that followed. Without the great Victory at Salamis, none of this would have been possible! We respectfully urge all freedom loving people in Greece and the world to join their efforts – like the 23 Greek city-states did 2,500 years ago – to defeat indifference, to conquer apathy, to fight lethargy, to stop the on-going saclocation, and to honor history, and to save this unique part of the world.

The Straight of Salamis, including the ancient harbor and City and the peninsula of Cyprus, to be placed under the jurisdiction of the Municipality of Salamis and OLP to relinquish its jurisdiction over the same. It is clear that in the last 40 years of jurisdiction OLP did nothing more than supervise a steady destruction of this historic area.

The first auditions will take place on February 20, 2014. Between 1.00pm and 6.00pm. The second audition will be hosted at the Dugdale Silver Street, Edmonton.

American actor George Clooney says Britain should return ancient monuments to Greece

American actor George Clooney on Saturday said that Britain should return Greek monuments to Greece, during a press conference for the film “The Monuments Men” at the 64th Berlin Film Festival, Variety reported.

Asked by a Greek journalist during the press event whether Greece should claim the ancient art treasures - known as the Parthenon Marbles and currently at the British Museum - Clooney said: “I think you have a very good case to make about your art. Maybe it wouldn’t be a bad idea if they returned. I think that is a good idea. I think that would be a very far and very scary thing. Yeah, I think it is the right thing to do. Greece has long campaign for the classical Greek marbles, originally part of the Parthenon temple on the Acropolis, which were removed by Lord Elgin during Ottoman rule, to be returned to Athens. Clooney’s “The Monuments Men” traces a World War II platoon whose mission is to rescue art masterpieces from the Nazis and return them to their rightful owners.

Between 6 & 9 February the tourist exhibition Destinations London was held at Earl’s Court. The exhibition is organised in association with the publishing group Times / Sunday Times. CTO’s stand was in a highly visible position. Interest in holidays to Cyprus was higher than in 2013.

The High Commissioner of the Republic of Cyprus in the UK, Mr Euripides L. Evriviades, honoured the exhibition with his presence. Mr Evriviades emphasised the priority given by the Cyprus Government not only to important political issues but also to matters relating to the development of productive sectors such as commerce, maritime, investments and tourism, within a holistic promotion and strengthening of Cyprus interests.

Mr Noel Josephides, President of ABTA, underlined that Cyprus is recovering as a tourist destination expressing cautious optimism that Russia should return Greek monuments to Greece, as well as beyond Europe

Το Ευρω-Συμβούλιο για την Ελλάδα έγραφε...
Ιρλανδία – Κύριος και η αντιμετώπισή τους από τους Ευρωπαίους

Μέ δέση γλυτώνει σε, μα ούτε τζ’ οι φοβέρες

Κύριε Δημήτρη,

Μπορούμε να σε σημειώσουμε στην πρόωρη εποπτεία της εγκυκλίωσης που βρίσκεται σήμερα στο επίπεδο της Ευρωπαϊκής Επιτροπής να έχει μειωθεί το όφελος της ενέργειας που αποτελεί το κατάλληλο του Κύριου στην Ιρλανδία. Αυτό το όφελος είναι καταγεγραμμένο σε διάφορες έρευνες, παρόλο που συνεχίζει να μειώνεται σε πολλές περιπτώσεις. Αυτό προκαλεί μεγάλη ανησυχία, καθώς οι Ευρωπαίοι που αναζητούν ενεργειακά δυνατότητες μπορούν να υποστούν ισχυρές καταγγελίες σχετικά με την ανταγωνιστικότητά τους.

Για αυτό λόγο, είμαστε συνεχώς σε παρακολούθηση και θα δηλώσουμε τη συνεχή ανησυχία μας σε όλα τα επίπεδα. Στην προώρη εποπτεία πρέπει να είναι καθοδηγούμενη από μια κοινή πληροφορία στην ιδιαίτερη περίπτωση της Ιρλανδίας. Σε παράλληλο επίπεδο, η επιτροπή θα πρέπει να εξετάσει τις αναγκαιότητες της ιδιαίτερης αντιμετώπισης της ιρλανδικής περιπτώσεως.

Με αυτό τον τρόπο, θα μπορούσαμε να εξετάσουμε ανάλλοιπα, με επικίνδυνη αντιμετώπιση της ιρλανδικής περιπτώσεως, μαθήματα για τους άλλους χώρους της Ευρώπης. Ωστόσο, οι εκτιμήσεις μας στην ιδιαίτερη περίπτωση της Ιρλανδίας δεν είναι εξαιρετικά αποτελεσματικές.

The Premier League season is winding up to an exciting climax and this month will go some way in determining the champions. In this media dominated era, the action off the pitch is almost as consuming as the action on it. Bring it on!

The use of metaphors has been central to Mourinho’s personality. We’ve heard the ‘little horse’ while this week we have also heard him describe City as a Jaguar car. And this in a week that saw his Chelsea side top the league. Yet he still insists his team will not end the season as champions.

Mourinho was in his public spats with Ferguson in the mid-90s was quick to learn that by trying to take on the master, you risk losing more than just a game of words. Season’s have been lost as can be exemplified by Kevin Keegan and Rafael Benitez when they dared take on Mourinho. Ferguson, often described as professorial, has lasted longer than either of those two Ferguson foils and has also won at the expense of Manchester United. His is therefore the blueprint of how to deal with these supposed mind games; do not play.

This is something Pellegrini needs to learn quickly as it is clear that these past two weeks Mourinho has certainly got his head.

Pellegrini’s jabs about Chelsea’s footballing style were followed with an emphatic statement by Chelsea who shuttled Mourinho’s perfect home record. The hitherto expansive style of deluge of goals that has wowed us all this season has suddenly disappeared for City in their last two games (not including last night’s match against Sunderland) have managed a mere four shots on goal.

City may well go and win the title but until very recently, even Pellegrini was entertaining the possibility of his team winning all four available trophies. Confidence. Or arrogance? Or foolishness?

Contrast this with Mourinho’s continued insistence that he cannot see his team lift the Premier League trophy come May. Indeed, he admits that his side are no easy participants. No one of course believes him but he has a ready-made excuse. Mourinho has been at pains to highlight the copious summer transfer spending by City. He has even thrown in the attempts by Chelsea to adhere to Financial Fair Play with a clear dig at City’s excesses which may fall foul of UEFA’s regulations.

What Mourinho does, as Ferguson did before him, is not merely a perfunctory attempt to generate headlines but to introduce to a rival, City in this case, the element of fear. What Mourinho is covertly asking is how can a team so expensively assembled not win the league this season? Mourinho is certainly cracking up the pressure and with City still to play Barcelona and the Champions League, this is certainly a time for focused minds and fit bodies to endure the final stretch of the season in the quest for honours. Can City handle the pressure on and off the pitch?

Mourinho has laid down a marker; he has let his prey and Pellegrini has fallen for it. The Chelsea need to heed the warnings of history and be a silent bystander. However at this level pride and self-belief can be intoxicating and distracting elements in a title race. Can Pellegrini resist?

As for how much of the season, Pellegrini needs to let his team do the talking, otherwise he risks becoming consumed with replying and counter-attacking everything Mourinho says. For on the outside watching it, it’s a fascinating duel.

The Premier League season is winding up to an exciting climax and this is what every manager’s ability to cope with the pressure, the media and the spotlight to not only deflect stress from their players but to play it on their tails will go some way in determining the champions. In this media dominated era, the action off the pitch is almost as consuming as the action on it. Bring it on!

Rizokarpasso 2-1 Livadia

Three valuable points for Aradippou eases their relegation worries but they are still not out of the woods. On a very windy day both teams tried very hard to keep the ball on the ground making it an entertaining game but lacked the killer touch in front of goal. Livadia without Rispoli and Adam Ali relied on Elias Katsoulides but although having a lot of the ball he could not break through. Anorthosis with player-manager Marcel a big influence up front kept going forward chasing the three points. Alex and George wasted a couple of good opportunities before man of the match Sam Ali found the net late in the game to give Aradippou a well deserved victory that warmed the hearts of their loyal supporters. Livadia drop to 5th spot and definitely missed their star players and will be looking to get their full squad back for the final challenge.

OMONIA 2

APOEL kept their feet on the soggy Broomfield park to comprehensively beat Omonia and move into 4th spot. They took a 2-0 half time lead with two goals from man of the match Valentia to complete a hat trick. The homeside finally got a goal to reduce the arrears at 4-2. Rizo pushed forward for an equaliser but two more goals from man of the match Valenitia to complete a hat trick. The homeside finally got a goal to reduce the arrears at 4-2.
