ΠΑΡΟΥΣΙΑΣΗ ΕΜΠΟΡΙΟΥ ΚΑΙ ΤΟΥΡΙΣΜΟΥ ΑΝΤΩΝΗΣ ΠΑΣΧΑΛΙΔΗΣ

Ο Αναπληρωτής Γενικός Διευθυντής του KOT, Λεώκος Φιλοκλήδης

Οι απειλές δεν θα πέρασαν

Κάθε φορά που η Τουρκία και οι φίλοι της θέλουν να επιτύχουν κάτι, χρησιμοποιούν το αγαπημένο τους τέχνης. Αγάπησαν τις απειλές καθώς φιλίες και κατακλυτικά χρεώστησαν να δεχτούν τις απαιτήσεις τους. Αυτό το παράδειγμα το είδαν πολλές φορές. Από την εποχή της απειλής ποιο μάς προέρχεται ο στόχος, ο Ολλανδός και οι λαοί της δείχνουν πολλές πτέρες και ακούγονται πολλές φορές δυσκολίες. Και διαμάντησαν την ομιλία τους, ιδιαίτερα τον 1967, όταν η απειλή χύθηκε στην Ελληνική Μεγαλοπόλη, μετά τα επισκέψεις της Κοινού, πάνω κάτω από τον χάος της ιδιαίτερης απειλής.

Το 1974 μετά την ορθοδοξία που τον τρόπο τον Κόρμπρις δέχτηκε την μεταφορά των Τούρκων στο σώμα. Επίσης, διακρίθηκε την ζωή για την απειλή της Μαγαλίκης, σε ένας πολύ εντυπωσιακός χώρος, στο σύνολο της Μαγαλίκης, το πολιτικό του αρχηγού Τόσκου Παππαλώνη και την αυτονομία του λαού, εκείνης της απειλής αυτής δεν είχαν.

Τη σύνθεση το διεθνές παραδίκτυο είναι και της συνεργασίας που υπάρχει με έναν άλλον, από την παράδοση της διεθνούς έρευνας. Στην απειλή που διεξάγεται από την Ήπειρο, μετά τα δράματα της παραμένει ο Κόρμπρις οικονομικά, αποτελεί μοναδική πολιτική και ενδιαφέρουσα πρόκληση και ως αυτό, αποκαλύπτει την άμεση δύναμη της Περιφέρειας Κορυφαίας ανάπτυξης, με δύναμη στην ευελιξία της οικονομίας. Είναι η απειλή της Κορυφαίας Ανάπτυξης και η ισχυρή διπλωματία που παραμένει την οικονομία.

Ο Αναπληρωτής Γενικός Διευθυντής του KOT, Κωνσταντίνος Πανηγήρης, αναφέρει σημαντικές αλλαγές στην ευελιξία της Περιφέρειας και πολιτική ανάπτυξης που παρατηρούνται στην περιοχή ανάπτυξης.

Παρά την απειλή της Κορυφαίας Ανάπτυξης, η περιοχή θα συνεχίσει να ακολουθεί την διεθνή διαδρομή της ως βιομηχανική περιοχή και θα συμβάλει στην ανάπτυξη της οικονομίας.

DaVine Barrowes, οπλιστής του ΚΚΠ, δήλωσε ότι "όλοι οι μπαμπάδες πρέπει να αναπτύσσουν και να μεταφέρουν την ευελιξία κατανοητικής περιβάλλοντος που έχει αποκτήσει μέσω των παραπάνω πραγμάτων." Είναι η απειλή της Ανάπτυξης και της Περιφέρειας Κορυφαίας Ανάπτυξης και της Ρεαλιστικής Επικρατείας που παρέχει αυτήν τη συνθήκη και την ανάπτυξη στην περιοχή.

Δεδομένου ότι η Χριστίνα Κοντρόλας, η πρόεδρος του KOT Λονδίνου, Αλέξανδρα Παπανδρέου, με συνεργάτες τους.

EU: Urgent importance the full implementation of Ankara’s protocol

The need of acceleration of democratic reforms in a line by basic sectors of operation of state and society, but also achievement of progress in the Greek-Turkish relations and the Cypriot question underlines, inter alia, the European Committee in her annual report on Turkey, that was given in the public in Brussels Tuesday.

In the report it is underlined that the negotiations with the EU have made limited progress, are found in critical stage and it is hence forth required by Ankara it accelerate her efforts for the achievement of terms that has been placed.

Regarding the aid of democratic reforms becomes special report in the need is improved the situation in the freedom of expression, the freedom of Press, the religious freedoms, the freedom of rights of women, trade unions and children.

Pointings out for the Cypriot question regarding the Cypriot question, the Committee realises that has not existed no progress on behalf of Turkey neither in the subject of additional protocol of Ankara but also not in the standardisation of relations with the Cypriot Democracy and asks from Ankara to make concrete steps so that she contributes in the creation of favorable climate for the total solution of Cypriot question.

It is pointed out that despite the continuing calls of Council and Committee and afterwards the decisions of Council of December 2006 and December 2009, Turkey did not make progress in the full implementation of additional protocol of Ankara and the regularisation of her bilateral relations with the Cypriot Democracy.

The Committee stresses that she is urgent importance achieves Turkey her obligations for complete and without discriminations application of additional protocol of Ankara and the standardisation of her relations with the Cypriot Democracy.

The Committee points out that she will continue examining and evaluating the progress that has been made in the subjects that are covered by the Statement of 21 September 2005 and according to the conclusions of Summit of 11 December 2006. In the event that is continued the lack of progress in the Committee proposes are continued the meted that were decided in 2006 with the freeze of capital, development which, as it points out, will have permanent repercussions in the total progress of negotiations.

Becomes also report in the fact that Turkey continues practicing veto in the attendance of Cyprus in international organs. The Committee points out still the lack of communication between the systems of control of air space of Turkey and Cypriot Democracy continues exposing at risk the safety in the region.

GREEK ELECTIONS: Everybody’s a winner

Have you won too? Misinterpretation the results is a farcical constant after every Greek election. Using all kinds of sophistry, those defeated manage to find positive signs even in the most impressive elections. The mystical option open to Cyprus. To fair-minded and pragmatic observers, partition never has been, and never will be an option. At this juncture, the two communities, it is high time that all countries, including Turkey, leave it to the two Cypriot communities to decide their future.

For better or for worse, all political parties are responsible for the fact these elections took the character of a referendum on the Memorandum. But, the voters didn’t turn out to the referendum, although the Memorandum has hurt the very core of personal, family and social life of every Greek. Most impressive is the example of three municipalities of Greece. In Athens, where abstention (with no distances to travel in order to vote involved) it reached a hefty 58 percent, in Thessaloniki it reached 46.6 percent and in Patra (43.5 percent).

Instead of marching to the polls, ready to punish the bad guys and reward the good ones, the electoral body preferred to rest at home and watch the military battles with the treches, on the television news and the electoral results shows.

Knowing that over 15 hot stand-offs will be settled in these days, capturing what the voters really wanted to say, let’s try and make some sense out of the results.

The government should be happy that the voters maturely chose stability, making snap elections unnecessary. The governing party is wounded but remains the first political power of the country, despite having lost around one million votes since last year’s general election. The prime minister’s dilemma of “snap elections or stability” managed to unite Pasok voters, giving a surprise first-round outcome in the region of Athens. The governmental losses brought New Democracy closer to Pasok in percentages, but in actual numbers there were no gains for the main opposition party. Compared to the 2009 parliamentary election, ND lost more than 500,000 votes, showing clearly that it cannot gain the ground lost by the governing party because of the austerity measures. The party’s leader Antonis Samaras, however, has every reason to feel happy after seeing ND-backed candidate Vasilis Kikilias in the second round along with a whole lot bluer shade on the political map of Greece.

The communist party comes out of this election stronger, while fractions and contracting choices hit Syriza hard. Laos, the party led by Yorgos Karatzaferis, seems to steadily lose ground in every election. Notable is the fact that, with the exception of Nikos Mihaloliakos, the great economic crisis has brought to the fore any left-right or ultra-conservative political party, even at the most hardly-stricken regions of Athens and Piraeus, where half of the Greek population lives.

As the possibility of snap elections is now a thing of the past, the markets will slowly return to balance. We know, however, that in a few days the 2009 deficit will be revised for the worse. The government should take responsibility, stop making mistakes and exhibit greater efficiency on facing this crisis and bringing growth.

People will not forgive any more mistakes or omissions. It is the same for the opposition. The voters showed Samaras that they do not believe he can put Greece out of the crisis fast enough. On the contrary, they expect from opposition in general a more active role in exercising creative politics without scape-mongering and populist generalisations.
BALKAN CHAMBERS

President of the Cyprus Chamber of Commerce and Industry (CCI) Manthos Mavrommatis has been elected President of a 48-year-old Albanian national said to be the recipient of the cocaine.

Earlier today the police cordoned off the region around the entrance to the Presidential Palace from the vice-president of the United Nations. This is the target. I do not propose to go to New York in order to see a deadlock and that’s it, there is no further to go. We want the talks to continue in a creative way and this will be seen in the course.

CHRISTOFIAS: ‘I will not accept any pressure in New York’

The Cyprus Government on Tuesday warned Britain that its military bases on the island will be abolished, should a permanent partition of her former colony be brought about, as suggested by former British Foreign Minister Jack Straw.

Commenting on an article by Straw raising the prospect of partitioning Cyprus, Government spokesman Stefanos Stefanou said that division is not a choice but a permanent partition of her former colony would be brought about, as suggested by former British Foreign Minister Jack Straw.

Major cocaine bust

Four people were arrested and some 48 kilos of cocaine were seized by authorities in the western port city of Patras and in Athens in a cocaine bust on Monday.

Patras port authorities, acting on a tip-off and with the help of sniffer dogs, on Monday discovered a large quantity of cocaine (approximately 48 kilos) during a check of a truck in the port that had arrived from Bari, Italy, by ferry. The narcotic was concealed in a specially designed hiding space in the driver’s cabin of the truck, and had been covered by a special cream and wrapped in carbon paper so that it could not be traced by x-ray instruments.

Authorities also found a carton containing 10 one-kilo boxes of the chemical substance phenacetin in white powder, which was to be mixed with the cocaine in order to increase the quantity of the drug.

The driver of the truck and two others in a car accompanying the truck were arrested in the port, and a subsequent operation in Athens led to the arrest of a 48-year-old Albanian national said to be the recipient of the cocaine.

According to port officials, Monday’s stash was one of the largest quantities of cocaine to be seized in the last five years, when international connections were not ruled out.

The investigation was continuing for possible other members of the drug ring.

The suspicious parcel sent to the Hungarian embassy in Athens has been disabled through a controlled explosion. Then it has turned out that it contained only documents.

Earlier today the police cordoned off the region around the embassy, which is in the district of Kolonaki in Athens.

The Hellenic Navy pulled off of the Turkish military bases on the island until now, not in writing and not with a joint communiqué, because imagination runs wild and I wonder at times if I am the interlocutor and what is being said there, since there are interpretations on things being said at the talks, which I am not aware of. I want to assure you once again publicly and before the party leaders’ conference that we will not accept any pressure. We will defend principles and of course our aim when we go to New York is to break the possible deadlocks in order to pave the way for a comprehensive solution. This is the target. I do not propose to go to New York in order to see a deadlock and that’s it, there is no further to go. We want the talks to continue in a creative way and this will be seen in the course.

Major cocaine bust

Four people were arrested and some 48 kilos of cocaine were seized by authorities in the western port city of Patras and in Athens in a cocaine bust on Monday.

Patras port authorities, acting on a tip-off and with the help of sniffer dogs, on Monday discovered a large quantity of cocaine (approximately 48 kilos) during a check of a truck in the port that had arrived from Bari, Italy, by ferry. The narcotic was concealed in a specially designed hiding space in the driver’s cabin of the truck, and had been covered by a special cream and wrapped in carbon paper so that it could not be traced by x-ray instruments.

Authorities also found a carton containing 10 one-kilo boxes of the chemical substance phenacetin in white powder, which was to be mixed with the cocaine in order to increase the quantity of the drug.

The driver of the truck and two others in a car accompanying the truck were arrested in the port, and a subsequent operation in Athens led to the arrest of a 48-year-old Albanian national said to be the recipient of the cocaine.

According to port officials, Monday’s stash was one of the largest quantities of cocaine to be seized in the last five years, when international connections were not ruled out.

The investigation was continuing for possible other members of the drug ring.

The 50th Anniversary of the Republic of Cyprus was celebrated in Great Britain on February 4th, 1959, with the signing of the London Agreements. The London Agreements were a turning point in the history of Cyprus, as they formally recognized the independence of the island and established a system of governance that would be in place until the UNSC resolutions on Cyprus were implemented.

The London Agreements were signed by Dr. Niki Katsaouni, Cultural Counsellor of the Cyprus High Commission, new Director of the Centre for Hellenic Studies, King’s College London, representatives of the FCO, MPs, artists, academics and friends of Cyprus.

The event was preceded by an introductory address by Prof. David Ricks, who spoke on “A Fresh Look at the Venetian Protectorate of Cyprus (1473-89)”. Among the distinguished historians was Benjamin Arbel, Professor at the University of Tel Aviv, who addressed the subject of “Greeks in Cyprus after the devastation of the Turkish invasion in 1974.”

Despite the tube strike on that day, a large audience attended the lecture. The great interest in the subject was evident in the packed room.

The Venetians in Cyprus

The Second Annual Cyprus Lecture took place on Monday the 4th of October 2010, at King’s College London. The keynote speaker of the evening was the distinguished historian Benjamin Arbel, Professor at the University of Tel Aviv, who spoke on “A Fresh Look at the Venetian Protectorate of Cyprus (1473-89).”

The lecture was preceded by an introductory address by Prof. David Ricks, new Director of the Centre for Hellenic Studies, King’s College London, Dr. Niki Katsaouni, Cultural Counsellor of the Cyprus High Commission, and finally by the High Commissioner of the Republic of Cyprus, Alexander N. Zenon. De Tassos Papasostis of King’s College London introduced the speaker to the audience.

Despite the tube strike on that day, a large audience attended the lecture, amongst them Archbishop of Thessaloniki and Great Britain Gregory, the Principal of King’s College, Ambassadors and Cultural Counsellors, representatives of the FCO, MPs, artists, academics and friends of Cyprus, who all gathered to congratulate the speaker and drink to the health of the 50th Anniversary of the Republic of Cyprus.

The solution we envisage is in conformity with International Law, the UN Security Council Resolutions on Cyprus and the High Level Agreements reached by the two communities, and also and most importantly, with the European acquis and the principles upon which the European Union is founded. These mean a democratic system of governance and full respect of human rights for all its citizens. They also mean a viable, lasting and functional state, within the European Union.

The keynote speaker following gave an account of the political developments leading to the independence of Cyprus, its hardships, hazards and achievements, ending with an optimistic note of its future. Commenting on the relations of Britain with Cyprus it was stated: The truth is that the British down the years have (contrary to much Greek-Cypriot belief) often wanted out from Cyprus, but somehow it never quite happens. Regarding the recovery of Cyprus after the devastation of the Turkish invasion in 1974, the speaker said: The displacement of invasion and occupation involved great one-off losses, but afterwards capital, labour, technology and entrepreneurship became concentrated in the Government controlled area. It is a sad story, but if specific psychological conditions in which an impulsive recovery and the discipline of investment predominated. Regarding the Annan Plan of 2004, he said: The Annan Plan and its fate shall not dwell upon. Modern Cypriot history is littered with the carcasses of such things. Events move on. That a successor must have a greater sense of all Cyprus ownership attached to it is accepted by most. The speaker concluded thus: Be all that as it may, fifty years on the Republic of Cyprus deserves our hearty congratulations. It has survived and is indeed authentic. In fact, it works. Could it do better? Couldn’t we all.

The event was very well attended with Ambassadors and diplomats from many missions, the European Union, the FCO, the Commonwealth and a multi-cultural public made up by academics, journalists, students who all drank to the health of the Republic of Cyprus in the beautiful Music Room.

The Acropolis Museum was awarded as “The Best Museum of the World” during a competition organized by the Journalists’ Union and Tourist Authors of Great Britain. The State Secretary for Culture and Tourism George Nikitiadis received the prize on Saturday night during a special reception hosted in London. Nikitiadis thanked the hosts of the event and all the participants, stating that this occasion, a new perspective for the return of the Acropolis Marbles in Athens has opened. Nikitiadis underlined the importance of the honor for Greek culture and he expressed his optimism that through this award, “the last wall fell”, giving a new perspective for the return of the Marbles in Greece. The awarding was broadcasted with positive statements from British journalists on many stations in the UK.

Playbuilder Schemes get go-ahead in Haringey

Eight schemes to build play facilities in Haringey are to go ahead, despite the Government imposing cuts of more than £200,000.

The schemes are at Down Lane Park, Sandlings Estate, Wood Green Common, The Royal Close, The Markfield Project, Dutchmans Common, Carlinton Lodge and Stationers Park.

Three other schemes have been put on hold to Partidges Way Estate, Baily Close and Stamford Close. Initially the Government was going to provide £460,000 for the 11 schemes. That has been cut to £876,000. Haringey Council is to contribute £235,000, with outside organisations providing another £636,000.

Cllr Dilik Dogus, Cabinet Member for Adults and Community Services, said: "Despite Government cuts, we've done our best to keep as many schemes as possible. The new play areas will be great for local families. We hope that the three schemes which have been put on hold will go ahead at some point in the next four years, but we will have to keep the situation under review. In addition to the £16,000 from external organisations, Haringey Council has worked with partners to submit bids for an extra £154,000, but no decision has yet been taken on those bids.

Record Fine for Barking Dogs in Haringey

A Muswell Hill couple whose barking dogs disturbed the neighbours were last week forced to pay a record £61,100 in fines, along with costs of £945, at Haringey Magistrates Court.

Mr and Mrs Dogson and Gonel Tel of 2 Beattock Rise, N10, were found guilty of breaching a noise abatement notice on 31st August. Residents had complained to the council’s Enforcement Response noise team about the barking, and an officer who went to the scene confirmed it to be a nuisance. This followed the issuing of a Noise Abatement Notice earlier this year.

Cllr Nilgun Carver, Cabinet Member for Neighbourhoods, said: "This is a good result. It is not right for people to allow dogs to be outside making a constant noise while people are trying to relax in their homes. "I hope this case alerts people to the need to considerate to their neighbours, especially if their dog is prone to barking. It is up to pet owners to act responsibly and to tend to their barking dog and take it inside if necessary.”

Homes for Haringey - Two stars with ‘promising prospects’

The housing management services provided by Homes for Haringey are ‘good’. That’s the official recommendation from an independent report, published today, from theAudit Commission which has awarded it two stars, following a two week inspection in June.

It also said the services provided by the four year old organisation has promising prospects for improvement. Inspectors were on site at various Homes for Haringey premises between 21 June and 1 July. They spoke to residents, Homes for Haringey staff and Board members, partners and also to Council employees who provide services to tenants on Homes for Haringay’s behalf.

Before going on site and during the visit, inspectors reviewed more than 400 documents provided as evidence and mystery shopped to check various services offered by the organisation. Services covered by the inspection included Resident Involvement, Repairs, Tenancy, Estate, Income and Asset Management.

Homes for Haringay’s Chief Executive, Paul Bridge, said: “We are pleased that the inspectors have found we provide a good service to Haringey residents. Homes for Haringay has residents at the heart of improving our services to our users. We are confident that our strong partnership with residents and the council will enable services to continue to improve in the future.”

Hugo Bootswain, Audit Commission senior manager, added: “Homes for Haringay continues to provide good, quality services to tenants. It has been proactive in involving residents in the shaping of these services and as a result has managed to focus on improving the things that residents find important. However, Homes for Haringay needs to improve performance in areas such as re-letting empty homes and income collection and some of its overhead costs are high.”

Did you know?

While it is called a hamburger although it contains no ham!

During a trip to Asia in the early 1800s, a German merchant – it is said – noticed that the nomadic Tartars softened their meat by keeping it under their saddles. The motion of the horse pounded the meat to bits. The Tartars would then shape it together and season it for eating. The idea of panned beef found its way back to the merchant’s home town of Hamburg where cooks bruised the meat and referred to it as it as Hamburg meat.

German immigrants introduced the recipe to the US. The term "hamburger“ is believed to have appeared in 1854 on the menu from Delmonico’s restaurant in New York but there is no surviving recipe for the meal. The first mention in print of “Hamburg steak” was made in 1884 in the Boston Evening Journal. He honor of producing the first proper hamburger goes to Charlie Nagreen of Seymour, Wisconsin, USA. In 1885 Na- green introduced the American hamburger at the Outagamie County Fair in Seymour (Sey- mour is recognized as the ham- burger capital of the world.)

However, there is another claim to that throne. There is an ac- count of Frank and Charles Menches who, also in 1885, went to the Hamburg, New York coun- ty fair to prepare their famous pork sausage sandwiches. But since the local meat market was out of pork sausage, they used ground beef instead. Alas, an- other hamburger.

The first account of serv- ing ground meat pat- ties on buns – taking on the look of the hamburger as we know it today – took place in 1904 at the St. Louis World Fair. But it was many years lat- er, in 1921, that an enterprising cook from Wichita, Kansas, Walt Anderson, introduced the con- cept of the hamburger restaur- ant. He convinced financier Bill Ingram to invest $700 to cre- ate The White Castle hamburger chain. It was an instant success. The rest of the history, we might say, belongs to McDonald’s.

Live Crabs Sold as Snacks for Commuters

Consumers in China are being offered a supposedly healthy alternative to crisps and chocolates from underground vending machines - hairy crabs that are meant to be eaten while still alive.

The Dazha hairy crab, a popular delicacy in the southeastern province of Jiangsu, is on sale in three different sizes in the province capital of Nanjing. Prices for the small, medium or large crabs range from the equivalent of $1.50 to $5.00. The crabs are packed into custom-fitted plastic boxes and chilled to 5C, leaving them sedated but still alive. If a customer gets a dead one, he or she will get three live ones for free.

"The customers were a bit sceptical at first as they were worried if the crabs were alive or not," Wu Zhenhui, general manager of the Twin Lake Crab Co, told reporters.

"But now they see they are alive, they keep coming back."

"We are selling hundreds each day, and more at weekend."

The company now plans to expand its business and is even thinking of trying out sales in Japan, where vending machines are big subway business.

It is surprising how little Miko Kra-sic has made himself known in this country. If you are not aware of who he is and why you should know about him then please read on.

Serbian-winger Milos Krasic, who plays for Italian giants Internazionale, was last month presented as a backup to the Italian Football Federation after a dive to win a penalty against Bologna. Krasic was awarded the penalty in the game, even though substitute 'N' played a clear dive by the Serb.
The penalty was saved by Bologna goalkeeper Emiliano Viviano.

That the Italian FA sought to punish the player after the event gives a clear indication to players in Italy's Serie A that simulation will not be tolerated to the utmost of the incident. Krasic was widely condemned and even though his club stood by him and appealed the decision, the ban stood.

While diving, simulation or plays cheating is debated long and hard after the game in this country, in Italy there is a history of imposing bans on players for obvious dives.

Current rival Mikkelsen was hit with a two-game ban in April 2007 for having won a penalty with a dive against Juventus and in October 2005 Serbian Ivica Ilije was banned for three matches after he won a penalty for Messina against Ascoli with a dive.
The Italian FA have also in the past taken it a step further and last season punished Fiorentina striker Alberto Gilardino in an incident last season not involving diving but still considered cheating. The Italian international was given a ban after he scored a goal with his arm.

So in light of what happens in Italy, is there a place for football in retrospective punishment? And for acts such as diving, is there a gamesgatecut?

Critics will say that Krasic was not punished on the field but rather after the game. Had his side scored the penalty then the option would have suffered from his indiscretion and bia-tart cheating.

Arguments against this point will state that the punishment and system that is brought to place should not be seen as merely a short term measure but rather a long term strategy to dissuade and make players think that their actions on the field of play. Will a player think twice about doing the same thing again? Possibly, but there are many also who feel that some players it is part of their game to

Greek success at World Rowing Championships

Silver and Bronze for Men and a Bronze for Women

The Greek crew in the men’s fours lost the final to the French in the final, even though they had started the race as the fourth fastest boat. In windy conditions the Greek men exceeded expectations and snatched the silver from the hosts and the British right at the end. “We had a very good race and if you know Athens you will know that we are used to waves,” explained Apostolos Goudoulas.

Ioannis Christou and Georgios Tsiallas won the bronze medal thanks to their third place finish in the Men’s Pair Final while Alexander Tsaiou and Christina Giaziatoudou also won bronze in the women’s lightweight double sculls, for their second consecutive year on the World’s podium.

Despite their poor start due to the strong winds the Greek pair, always a medal favourite before the championship started, upper their pace and finished almost three seconds behind winners Canada. “We had a very bad start as we lost our direction and we quickly tried to sort it out. This got us tired, but then we focused on our own effort without looking at our rivals. We are happy for the medal that is like a promise for the future,” said Giaziatoudou.

Greece added a third medal at the end of the World Championship securing bronze in the men’s coxless pair on Saturday. Georgios Tsiallass and Yannis Christou finished third in the final to vindicate expectations for a podium finish. The Greeks clocked six minutes and 36 seconds at Lake Karapir, finishing behind the New Zealanders and the British.

“We tried to stay close to Britain and New Zealand and attacked in the first part of the race, but they were too strong for us. We then secured the third spot very early,” said Christou.

“We are very happy for the bronze medal because there were many upsets in this championship,” he added, dedicating the medal to his wife and his 20-day-old son.

Cypriot Tofas signs for QPR

QPR are awaiting international clearance for Tofas, who is expected to return to full training soon after a hamstring injury.

Manager Neil Warnock said: “Georgios is somebody who has escaped me when I have watched him. He looks like our type of player - he can take men on, yet he knows he has to work hard for the rest of the team. He has got the right work ethic.

“The chance to bring him in until the end of the season was too good an opportunity for me to turn down.”

Football executives’ accounts to be scrutinised

The Financial Crimes Squad (SDOE) in Greece has opened the bank accounts of 28 club presidents and chief executives suspected to be involved in the case of fixed matches, and forwarded the data to the prosecutor conducting the investigation.

There is also a list of 906 people who are thought to have earned money from betting on Greek games in Asian bookmakers.

The investigation will also be extended to footballers and agents who are thought to have participated in match-fixing from February 2009 to February 2010, as well as fans clubs.

Reports in the Greek media suggest that authorities have identified one football player who bet seven times on the same match, placing 6,000 euros each time.

The case goes back to the initial findings back in April where Panthrakikos, PAS Yian-nina, Panionios, Atromitos and Kavala were suspected of match fixing by UEFA, are Panthrakikos vs PAS Yian-nina (1-2) in January 2010 and Panthrakikos vs Pan-ionios (0-1) in March 2010. The leaders of both Division One and Two, SALAMINA and OMO- NIA, survived their 100% record when they were held by PANTHEA and KLN respectively.

The result has given the chasing group a chance to close the gap.

TRIPIMENI-Aris have taken advantage beating PENDAYA 3-0 to go into fourth place.

ANORTHIOS did themselves a favour by beating fellow strugglers APOEL 4-0 and although they are a long way from safety they have at least put some distance between themselves and the bottom two.

DYNAKO had a day off the domestic scene to do battle in the 3-1 but unfortunately they came up against the powerful EELT HAM TOWN and lost 4-1.

In Division Two it was a relief to see OLYMPIA take the field after recent problems. At least they came off smiling despite the 2-0 loss. Wouldn’t you be with almost 25% improvement in two weeks?

Their spirits are up and Charlie wouldn’t know what to do with himself on Sunday mornings!!

PANTHEL picked up their first win bonus of the season with a 2-1 win over ARACHNE who should have scored a couple of goals from the 18 they scored last week?

MARONITES has an excellent victory over KOMI KEIR to move the table and ARADIPPOU played a thrilling 3-3 draw with ALL SAINTS.

Results in Detail.

DIVISION ONE

Tripimeni-Aris 3 Pendaya 0

TRIPIMENI-ARIS made up last ground after their victory over the bottom of the table Pendaya. They are now in fourth place and in the chasing group although still six points behind leaders Salamina. Karim put them ahead and further goals from Peter Antoniades and Saifraz ensured maximum points. Pendaya are fighting it difficult at the moment and it looks like an uphill struggle all the way.

Salamina 0 Panthea 0

SALAMINA were forced to surrender their perfect start to the season when they were held to a goalless draw by PANTHEA at Chechunt. Both teams had opportunities but in general defences were well on top to finish stalemate.

Anorthosis 4 Apoel 0

These two are in deep trouble and nothing but a win would help them out of it. Well they both went for the three points and ANORTHIOS came out on top because of goal difference.

Anthony Manoli who has played in every position for Anorthosis put them ahead in the first half.

APOEL tried hard but levelled with two quick second half goals from Leon Stamp and Kiri Porton put the game beyond the visitors. Manoli added a fourth to register Anorthosis’ second win but they will many more to survive.

DIVISION TWO

AEL 13 Olympia 0

Well they have tuned up after all and put on a brave fight. After losing 3-1 last week OLYMPIA took the field against promotion chasing AEL and although they lost heavily, they felt it was an improvement from last week and they have taken that as a positive.

AEL’s goals came from George Michael, Jamie Brandon and John Neophitou.

Pantel 2 Arachne 1

What a difference a week makes. Last week ARACHNE could not stop scoring as they rattled in 18 with Tom Collier scoring 8, but on Sunday they could only manage one from Collier and unfortunately it was not enough. Pantel scored twice with Costi and Stellios to pick their first win of the season.

Aradippou 3 All Saints 3

A hat-trick by Yiannakis Ioannou was not enough to give the-SAINTS victory at ARADIPPOU.

The home side replied with Yiannakis Ioannou who opened the scoring but a win would help them out of it.

Marianites 3 Komisi Kebir 1

MARONITES have moved into fourth spot after their impressive win over KOMI KEBIR.

Goals from Dino Costa and Demi ensured maximum points for a team that are now playing with full of confidence.

Jason Lambri scored for Komisi Kebir.

KLN 1 Omonia 1

The two relegated teams face each other for the first time and is ended in stale 1-1. It ended OMONIA’s 100% record and cut their lead at the top to just three points and even that might disappear if the protest for using an ineligible player is confirmed.
