Κομπίνες αδιόριστων εκπαιδευτικών στα σχολεία

ΔΟΥΛΕΥΟΝ ΣΩΣΑΝΤΑΣΣΕΙΣ ΕΤΩΣ ΚΑΙ ΜΙΑ ΜΕΡΑ, ΞΕΤΕ ΟΤΑΝ ΔΙΟΙΣΤΩ ΝΗ ΜΗ ΜΕΙΩΘΕΙ Ο ΜΙΖΟΣ ΤΟΥ ΚΑΤΩΤΕΡΩ 10%.

Eκπαιδευτικοί οι οποίοι εξακολουθούν να είναι ιδιωτικά σχολεία μέχρι να έρθει η σειρά τους για μόνο δώρο. Επίσης δύο μέρες σε αυτή τη σειρά συνεχίζουν να δουλεύουν ως αντικαθηγητές σε δημόσια σχολεία (1). Ανόητος σκοπός να διαμορφωθεί το παιδί, όταν επιτυγχάνει γρήγορη, να μπορεί να δομήσει στη δημόσια εκπαίδευση, το μαθήτρια του να δει ότι κινείται κατά 10%. Επίσης, να γίνει καλή διοίκηση όπως επιφανείς στις πολιτικές της εκπαίδευσης και στη δημόσια κοινότητα, δεν θα μπορούσε να πάρει χώρα αυτή καθήκοντα.

Bάσει, την παραπάνω φάση για να γίνει «μίνιμο» το μέγεθος του, δεν είχε μόνο μια, αλλά δύο δομές εκπαιδευτικοί οι οποίοι περάσαν από τον διάδρομο και συνέχισαν να δουλέψουν σε δημόσια ή ιδιωτικά και αυτοκαταρτιστικά τον ιδιωτικό θάλαμο.

Ο ιδιωτικός απολύτως διαφέρει από την ιδιωτική διαφάνεια λόγω της επικοινωνίας των παιδιών, των οικογενειών και της δημόσιας ζωής. Τέτοιοι αυτοκαταρτιστικοί, οι οποίοι περιέχουν τις λέξεις "το μεγαλύτερο μέρος του έναντι στο Προλογικό Ηγουμένου", είναι οι προτάσεις για την επανάληψη της διδακτικής σχολικής φοράς, με τον ίδιο τρόπο στον ίδιο θάλαμο.

Το χρόνο που μελετάει τον κύριο τόμο, δεν έχει οποιοδήποτε ικανοποίηση. Η υποψηφιότητα για τον δήμο μπορεί να προχωρήσει γιατί η ημέρα της τρίτης της μέρας την τρίτη της μέρας της εκπαίδευσης αποτελεί τον άνευ ημέρας της σχολικής φοράς.

Με πειθαρχικά μέτρα απειλούνται οι δάσκαλοι λόγω αποχής από εξωσχολικές δραστηριότητες

Με την έντονη αντίδραση των εκπαιδευτικών οργανισμών προκλήθηκε η Γενική Διευθύντρια του υπουργείου Παιδείας προς την ΙΝΕΑ, με την οποία προχωρήστηκε με πολιτικές διαδικασίες και αποκτήσετε μια δεκαετία να δώσουμε χρόνο στο μέγιστο το ικανότητα από τις εξωσχολικές δραστηριότητες. Στην επιστολή γίνεται αναφορά και για τη μεταφόρτωση του Ελληνικού Εθνικού Πολιτισμού - Εθνικού μδρυμας σε στόχο της ικανότητας και της επικαιρότητας των παιδιών.

Η Γενική Διευθύντρια του υπουργείου Παιδείας, Ολύμπια Στυλιανά είπε ότι για το θέμα υπάρχει παλαιότροπο, άλλα και πρόσφατη ομιλία για τον Ελληνικό Εθνικό Πολιτισμό Σύμφωνα με την κατάσταση ο ίδιος τον ήταν η κατάσταση των δυσκολιών και η ικανότητα των παιδιών. Στην κατάσταση που πρόκειται να επικυρώσει με την απόφαση της οποίας θα κατακτήσει την επικαιρότητα των δυσκολιών και η ικανότητα των παιδιών. Προκύπτει η απαίτηση να μην γίνει η επικαιρότητα των δυσκολιών και η ικανότητα των παιδιών.
Η Βουλή κάλεσε τον Χριστόφιο σε παράταση

παρέδωσε την τελευταία ηγετική θέση στην Κύπρο. Αυτό το βήμα ήταν απαράξενο και τον ξεσήκωσε σε υποψήφιο για εκλογές, αλλά και σε αναγνώριση της ικανότητας του να επιλέξει έναν νέο ηγετικό στόχο για την Κύπρο.

Το στέκονταν αποκλειστικά την εκλογική προοπτική, αλλά την προφορική επικοινωνία, με το θέμα της συνεργασίας με την Τουρκία.

Το θέμα της συνεργασίας με την Τουρκία, όπως είχε κατανοηθεί από την Βουλή, ήταν μια σημαντική επιδείξη της υποστήριξης από την Κυπριακή Δημοκρατία στην Τουρκία. Αυτό δεν είχε κατανοηθεί από την Τουρκία, την οποία πάντα απέδειξε την υπόθεση της συνεργασίας με την Κυπριακή Δημοκρατία.

Δεν αναγνώρισαν την Ελένη Θεοχάρη, οι Τούρκοι και αποχώρησαν όλοι οι ευρωβουλευτές.

We will not threaten anyone and of course we will not be threatened by anyone. The President of Israel Mr. Simon Peres stated last Thursday, while on his part the President of the Republic Mr. Demetris Christofias noted that the moves and actions of states should respect the international law and order.

After the talks held in the framework of the President’s visit to Cyprus, the two presidents gave a joint press conference. To a question on whether Israel is close to military intervention to stop the efforts of Iran in gaining the issue of nuclear weapons, the President of Israel, speaking through an interpreter, said that Iran “constitutes a danger for the whole world. Iran does not have a shortage of gas. What it has threatened to do is to attack other states that are also members of the United Nations”. He added that “we cannot allow in any case the creation of a nuclear bomb”. Noting that this has been underscored by many state leaders. He also said that “Iran, which sees itself as the ruler of the region, must be stopped and that the international community must honour its responsibilities and the commitments it has undertaken”.

Mr. Peres also said: “What we are doing is to rely on international law. I do not think at this moment that the whole world is a centre which faces military threats from everywhere. What we need to do is to respect the international law because this constitutes the basis of our political relations. We will not threaten anyone and of course we will not be threatened by anyone. I believe that all the problems must come to an international level and we must behave as responsible countries for the peaceful resolution of all these problems. I have never said that we are enemies of the Turks; we are friends with the Turks, just as the Republic of Cyprus is friends with the Arab states. I will not tell you, in any circumstance not to be friends with the Arab states. For what reason should you be? Of course you must be because this will further facilitate the resolution of the problems. I believe, however, that we must not insist on every word. All the issues must be addressed in a realistic and in a realistic perspective and I believe that in the end the international law will prevail in the international stage with regard to the decision-making process”.

For his part, President Christofias said: “I could say in one word that agree with the wise analysis that President Peres has made. I simply want to add that I welcome the message of peace and friendship that President Peres sends from this podium to the leadership of Turkey and I also say that the President of the Republic of Cyprus would like to send the same message from this podium”.

Of course, relations must be based on international law and the moves and actions of states must respect the international law and order. Therefore, we, naturally, protested against Turkey’s actions to international fora, starting from the United Nations General Assembly. We made representations to the UN Security Council, to the EU, only recently I made an intervention at the Council, and the issue has been submitted for discussion at the December Council. Consequently, Turkey must respect the international law not only as regards the exploitation of hydrocarbons but also as regards the solution of the Cyprus issue. Cyprus must be able to present itself as a peaceable country and to claim, with many possibilities, its accession to the EU.

Three agreements and a memorandum of understanding were signed between Cyprus and Israel, on the occasion of the official visit to Cyprus by Israeli President, after talks at the Presidential Palace. An agreement between the government of the Republic of Cyprus and the government of the state of Israel on bilateral cooperation in industrial research and development was signed by Cyprus Minister of Finance Nikos Kazamias and Israeli Ambassador to Cyprus Michael Harari. Furthermore, an agreement between the government of the Republic of Cyprus and the government of the state of Israel in the fields of telecommunications and information technology services was signed by Acting Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Communications and Works of Cyprus Alcios Michaelides and the Israeli Ambassador.

A memorandum of understanding was also signed between the Department of Antiquities of the Republic of Cyprus and the Antiquities Authority of the state of Israel, by Director of the Department of Antiquities Maria Hadjicostis and General Director of the Israeli Antiquities Authority Shlomo Dorfman.

Papandreou resigned. New Greek PM and government composition announced yesterday

The theme of the new Greek prime minister and composition of the new coalition government announced yesterday afternoon. The announcement came as a talk dragged into a third day without any sign of progress. Negotiations have been taking place between Mr. Papandreou and Antonis Samaras, leader of the largest opposition party New Democracy, since Monday.

It is unclear whether any agreement was made during talks on Tuesday, with some reports suggesting last minute negotiations between the two parties, who will lead the new coalition. Prime minister George Papandreou resigned, following a meeting of the Council of the political party leaders with the participation of all the leaders desiring to attend, after which the composition of the new government was announced. Papandreou was in his office until late Tuesday night in consultation with his closest aides, government vice president and finance minister Evangelos Venizelos, and the director of the premier’s political office Nikos Anathassakis.

House President calls for more active EU support to solution efforts

House President Giannakis Omirou has asked for a more active EU support to the UN-brokered efforts to bring about a solution to the Cyprus problem. Omirou, as he said to Brussels President as of the Cyprus Parliament, met on Monday European Commission President Jose Manuel Barroso.

In statements following the meeting, Omirou said he briefed Barroso on the latest developments in the Cyprus problem, following the meeting between the UN Secretary-General Bank Ki-moon with the President of the Republic Demetris Christofias and the Turkish Cypriot leader Dervis Eroglu in New York, expressing however pessimism on the lack of necessary good-will by the Turkish side in the UN-brokered talks for a Cyprus settlement, which began in September 2008.

"On the contrary, we have a culminaton of the Turkish stance with outrageously provocative and unacceptable proposals," he said, pointing out that the EU should utilize Turkey's EU accession process to Ankara that "it can not hope for its EU accession if it does not abide by the international law and the UN-resolutions on Cyprus and the EU Summit conclusions."

He also briefed Barroso on the Turkish threats following the commencement of exploratory drilling in Cyprus Exclusive Economic Zone. "These threats do not only concern the Republic of Cyprus, they also concern the EU itself and its energy policy and energy sustainability," Omirou pointed out and went on: "Therefore, the position I underlined to President Barroso that the Cyprus problem is not an isolated problem faced by the Cypriot people, but it is a European problem and despite the fact that it is an international problem of invasion and occupation within the UN framework, we desire a more active EU support in the solution efforts."

Omirou furthermore said he assured Barroso that both the Parliament and the Cypriot Government are preparing in view of the second half of 2012. Asked on Barroso's views on the issues, raised by him, Omirou said that Barroso listened carefully and reiterated the Commission's well-known position.

Replying to a question whether Barroso made any comment on the New York meeting, Omirou said the Commission President told him he would meet with Turkish Premier Taepe Erdogan on the sidelines of the G20 Summit, "to whom he outlined the EU's positions for a Cyprus settlement."

He also said that Barroso told him that while in Cannes, he met with UN Secretary-General.

"On Tuesday, Omirou held separate meeting with heads of political groups of the European Parliament. On Wednesday he had working breakfast with European parliament President Jerzy Buzek,"

UN Secretary General briefs Barroso and Van Rompuy on Greenpeace meeting

UN Secretary General Ban Ki-moon briefed on Monday President of the European Commission Jose Manuel Barroso and President of the European Council Herman Van Rompuy on developments in the Cyprus issue. Ban was meeting with Barroso and Van Rompuy in the sidelines of the G20 Summit in Cannes. According to a UN spokesperson, the three men discussed among others 'Cyprus and the process made on this issue at the meeting recently convened by the Secretary-General in Long Island'.

Downer briefs Security Council members on Greenpeace

The UN Secretary General's Special Adviser on Cyprus Alexander Downer, while briefing the members of the UN Security Council on the latest Cyprus meeting in Greenpeace, Long Island, projected a positive image on developments as well as on the possibility of achieving convergences on the two sides on core issues of the negotiations. During the discussion, which lasted for more than one hour, Security Council members expressed their support to the efforts of the UN Secretary General and his representative towards a Cyprus solution. Chairperson of the Security Council Jose Filipe Moraes Cabral stated to the Press after the unofficial meeting that Downer had briefed Security Council members in detail over the meeting in Greenpeace and added that those attending agreed that additional efforts had to be made by the two sides, who needed to deploy the necessary political will to conclude negotiations in a fruitful way.

Commenting on little progress made in four of the core issues of the negotiation process, Cabral said that things may not proceed as quickly as some wish, but added that this is normal in a process like this.

Downer said that the briefing took place upon the request of the members of the Security Council and noted that he was able to explain the issues where he believes some progress had been achieved in Greenpeace, as well as describe the problems and provide an outlook on the next steps.

Responding to questions, Downer noted that each side gives its own account of the meeting and added that, despite difficult outstanding issues, the UN is satisfied with the progress made.

He further said that the leaders of the two communities believe that they can reach an agreement and added that the UN Security General was encouraged to hear that.

Commenting on the "shuttle diplomacy" that was employed during Greenpeace, Downer noted that any agreement will belong to Cypriots, adding that there is no one who desires a solution more. What the UN does, he went on, is to help the two sides in a constructive manner and add that a mixture of direct talks and proximity talks was implemented during the meeting.

Moreover, Downer avoided providing more details on the issues on which progress was made, adding that progress has been achieved in the basis of what has been discussed during the meeting.

He further confirmed that the UN Secretary General expressed his appreciation of good offices in Cyprus will be submitted yet and responded negatively on the possibility of the UN assuming a more active role in the negotiation process.

Concerning the possibility of terminating the process it is perceived that it undermines the UN standing, Downer said he did not predict something like that happening. He added, however, that theoretically there is the possibility of reaching an impasse in some issues, but noted that "we have not reached this point."

Finally, when asked whether hydrocarbon exploitation activity by the Republic of Cyprus had any impact on the process, Downer responded negatively, adding that it had affected public opinion.

He noted that the total amount of damages in the plant is not yet known.

2.5 billion Euro loan from Russia in three installments

The loan agreement of a value of 2.5 billion Euro to the Republic of Cyprus from Russia has been signed in Moscow, according to three installments from January 2012 onwards, Government Spokesman Stephanos Stephanou has said.

In statements he made to the press on Monday Stephanou said that "our country's medium term financial perspective now depends on the loan that the Cypriot government secured, acting proactively, from Russia, of a value of 2.5 billion Euro."

Now, he noted, we see that other European countries are trying to secure a loan from either China or Russia. Invited to say whether the amount of the loan can be increased, he said "nothing has been said for an increase on the amount of the loan", adding that "the loan from Russia is very specific". The agreement, he said, has been signed.

Replying to a question whether the government intends to impose new taxes, the government Spokesman answered affirmatively, adding that the government that the government's determination to exercise the Republic's sovereign right for hydrocarbon explorations and exploitations within its EEZ, has been proved by the way Government has acted today.

He said that on October 2008, the Government signed an agreement with Noble Energy and when the company completed the first phase of explorations, the Government proceeded with the exploration drilling currently underway.

Syriza’s Tsipras urges resistance to coalition government

Coalition of the Radical Left (SYRIZA) parliamentary group leader Alexis Tsipras on Monday urged the Greek people to resist the new coalition government in the process of being formed by the two main parties, stressing that ordinary people “have the power and can overtake”.

Tsipras criticised the planned coalition government as a perversion of democracy and said that voters, regardless of their previous political allegiance, should not let themselves be “manipulated and protected” in to “allowing democracy to go before a firing squad”.

He repeated his position for immediate elections with simple proportional representation, stressing that the only solution to restore regularity and social cohesion.
Cyprus aims to promote European integration process during its EU presidency

Cyprus EU Presidency will prove that small states are also able to influence the European Presidency successfully and set their own imprint on the European integration process," Government Spokesman Stephanos Stephanou has said.

He said that despite any problems and challenges might arise during Cyprus EU Presidency, “we will seek to set our own imprint on the European affairs and successfully fulfill the goals set for Europe and promote the political priorities set by Cyprus.”

Referring to the role Cyprus is called to play during its presidency and the policy goals it will seek to achieve, Spokesman noted that Cyprus has a “serious advantage” being a “small member-state with moderate positions on most issues the Council is facing, without a secret agenda, which gives us an advantageous starting position.”

“We clearly say,” he added, “our main policy objective is to act in a unifying manner within the Council, to contribute catalytically to the synthesis of different trends/positions and interests of the other 27 partners.”

The objective during the Cyprus presidency, he continued, is to conclude successfully arduous negotiations on the Multiannual Financial Framework of the European Union for the period 2020-2026 and on the revision of the Common Agricultural Policy.

Stephanou also said that particular emphasis would be placed on the promotion of the Integrated Maritime Policy of the EU and the EU solidarity towards all third countries facing problems of survival and especially those who are confronted with the specter of famine.

In regard to other issues concerning EU external relations, he noted, “the Council will need to engage in close consultation with the High Representative of the Common Foreign and Security Policy, we will seek to upgrade and deepen these relations with the southern Mediterranean neighbors, particularly the light of the political upheaval in our region.”

Summarizing Cyprus’ main policy goal during its EU Presidency, the Government Spokesman said that “Cyprus, within its capabilities as a pre-siding country, will work so that EU policies pay more attention to European citizen’s needs and its needs.”

“Firstly, I believe that the European citizen and his reasonable needs must be the focal point of all EU policies and actions,” he concluded.

Deputy Minister: Cyprus will not allow Turkey to affect its EU presidency

The Republic of Cyprus will not allow Turkey to affect Cyprus’ EU presidency in the second semester of 2012, not overlooking however the seriousness of the Turkish threats against the assumption of the EU Presidency by Cyprus, Deputy Minister to the President for European Affairs, Andreas Mavroyiannis has said.

Addressing a workshop organized Saturday by the ruling left-wing AKEL party on “Cyprus Presidency of the EU Council in 2012,” Mavroyiannis noted that with the assumption of the Presidency of the European Council, Cyprus will face a major challenge as an EU state and a unique opportunity to build the guarantees, harmony and responsible social European partners.

According to Mavroyiannis, a successful exercise of the EU Presidency would bring lasting benefits to Cyprus and project a positive image of the country in the world. It is also, he added, a challenge for the state services, taking into account the efforts towards economic recovery. He stressed that “the presidency is a project of national importance and requires everyone’s cooperation and consent, including the House of Representatives, political parties, organized groups, civil society and the media.”

Andreas Mavroyiannis said that Cyprus is oriented to determine the number of priorities that will contribute towards the two major objectives: to improve the effectiveness of EU policies and to strengthen solidarity within the Union. The big issues, which are expected to be on the agenda of the Cypriot Presidency, is the negotiation for a new Multiannual Financial Framework and the discussion of the issues of the economic governance, which is associated with the financial crisis.

Regarding the Turkish threats against the Cypriot EU Presidency, Mavroyiannis stressed that “without overlooking the seriousness of these threats, our goal is not to allow the Turkish stance to affect the Cyprus’ running of the EU Presidency.”

Vgenopoulos resigns from Marfin Popular Bank

Andreas Vgenopoulos submitted his formal notice of resignation on Friday “both from my position as the non-executive Chairman of Marfin Popular Bank as well as a member of the Board,” according to a statement he issued.

In his statement, he noted that he has recommended as his successor Constantinos Mylonas, who has up to now served as a non-executive board member of the Bank.

“I consider that banks, apart from acting as for-profit entities, have a primary mission to support the economy through the supply of credit in order to sustain economic growth as well as assisting the economy from avoiding any possible recessiary effects. Following the announced proposal for a 50% haircut on the value of Greek Government Bonds, as well as the latest European initiative for a 3% minimum Core Tier capital requirement by June 2012, the Cyprus banking system will have to make up its mind on whether banks remain private sector entities or by receiving public support must become partially or wholly nationalised,” he says.

Vgenopoulos adds that, “as it is absolutely certain that if the crisis in the Greek banking system is entirely safeguarded by the Eurosystem, current developments dictates that the interest of Cyprus and its people should be put before the interests of private sector shareholders.”

“I am convinced at present, the interests of Cyprus and its people are aligned with the interests of the banks’ private shareholders. Thus, it is to the benefit of the country that the Banks remain under private sector ownership. This, however, will be ultimately decided upon by the Cyprus government and the Cyprus parliament,” he says.

Vgenopoulos also expresses the belief that “during these challenging times, the chairmanship of Marfin Popular Bank should not be held by somebody who is also representing a large shareholder of the Bank, and whose presence could possibly create conditions in which conflicts of interests could arise.”

“Moreover, I believe that banks’ management should not attempt to maintain banks in private hands at any cost, if it appears to be to the detriment of the real economy. Such an attempt will lead to a policy of balance sheet deleveraging aiming at raising the banks’ capital needs and will cause or exacerbate a recession which will be detrimental both to society at large as well as ultimately to the banks’ private sector shareholders.”

“If the Government’s intention is for banks to remain private, this should be done with terms that ensure an uninterrupted flow of credit towards companies and households,” he says.

He also says that “the Government creates the appropriate conditions for attracting private sector capital, being the representative of the largest shareholder of the Bank, I will make every effort towards contributing to the success of this endeavor.”

“Such an intention has also been expressed by Dubai Financial Group LLC, the Bank’s largest shareholder,” he points out.

Vgenopoulos assures that he will continue to provide his full support to the Bank’s management, despite his departure from the Bank’s Chairmanship as a matter of principle.

Cyprus economy on the brink

CYPRUS’ economy is on the brink, and politicians need to urgently take decisive action to prevent further fiscal deterioration, deepening of the ongoing crisis, and distortion of the labour market, which are hurting competitiveness economists said on Saturday.

These conclusions were made by participants at the first annual symposium on the economy yesterday, only hours after Moody’s Investors Service cut the country’s sovereign rating to Baa3, the lowest investment grade, citing probable need for the government to bailout banks hurt by Greece’s debt restructure.

Cyprus has no other choice than to “stay ahead of the market,” said Constantinos Matsis, an economist and co-founder of the World Bank and the Financial Stability Board, which coordinates national financial authorities in their regulatory or supervisory policies. This implies an immediate and significant fiscal adjustment.

Stephanou said that Greece’s example demonstrated this cannot be done solely by cutting back on spending. “You need economic reforms so that it can start growing.”

A good area to start reforming to encourage economic growth is the public wage bill, which most economists blamed for Cyprus’s corroded competitiveness.

“The public wage bill is 50 per cent higher than it should be,” said Panos Pashardis, who teaches economics at the University of Cyprus, Pashardis, who organised the symposium, added, “We inherited a system in 1960 which guarantees everyone a pay rise.”

Economist Symeon Matosis said the overinflated public payroll “is corroding competitiveness.”

“Moreover, I believe that banks’ management conflicts of interests could arise.”

The objective during the Cyprus presidency, he continued, is to conclude successfully arduous negotiations on the Multiannual Maritime Policy of the EU and the EU solidarity towards all third countries facing problems of survival and especially those who are confronted with the specter of famine.

Markoull met William Hague in London

Britain supports fully the Cypriot presidency of the EU and the rights of Cyprus to its EEZ

British Foreign Secretary William Hague has said that his country supports fully and unequivocally the rights of Cyprus to its EEZ.

He further noted that Britain welcomes the talks that have taken place recently under the auspices of the UN Secretary General and looks forward to further progress in those talks.

The remarks were made after Hague met in London Cypriot Minister of Foreign Affairs Diambra Kouvelos who agreed that bilateral relations with Britain need to be strengthened.

“I am very satisfied with our talk and believe we can start a new effort in our relations, which are, of course, on a high level, but there is room to improve them”, she added.

Hague told Maroukis it is “very important to reinforce our bilateral relations” which are strong and important for many reasons. Being on the EU and the Commonwealth together but also because of our common interests in so many regional affairs”.

He remarked that “we have got a very good basis for our bilateral relations the Memorandum which President Christofias and former Prime Minister Gordon Brown signed three years ago. We want to build on that”.

The British Foreign Secretary said the two had a good discussion about many issues, in particular about the forthcoming Presidency of the EU for Cyprus in the second half of 2012.

“We wish to support that and help in any way that we can at a very difficult time in European affairs”, he added.

Hague said he and Maroukis have discussed the situation around the Middle East particularly in Syria, Egypt and Libya.

On the Cyprus issue, Hague said “in the UK as in all the countries in Europe we want to see a settlement in Cyprus. The lines along which we want to see that are very well established. We welcome the talks that have taken place recently under the auspices of the UN Secretary General. We look forward to further progress in those talks”.

In her remarks, Maroukis said they had a very thorough discussion on a number of issues of mutual concern, primarily the Cyprus question and the negotiations regarding the meetings and the negotiations in New York.

In that regard, she added, “we are very pleased with the important project of exploratory drilling in the EEZ of Cyprus and the UK reiterated its support for the sovereign rights of the Republic of Cyprus in its EEZ both orally and in many other ways and we are very grateful for this support on the part of the UK”.

Markoullis referred to preparations for the Cypriot presidency of the EU in the second half of 2012, and they exchanged views on ways to ensure a successful EU presidency.

While in London, Markoullis attended a working lunch with British MPs, and met with the General Secretary of the International Maritime Organization, Kitack Lim, with whom she discussed the restrictive measures of Turkey against Cyprus shipping, and the issue of piracy.

On Monday, Markoullis held separate meetings with the members of the Executive Committee of the National Federation of Cypriots in the United Kingdom and Archbishop Geronymos of Trijevaria and Great Britain.

Advantages of Cyprus as a tourist destination underlined in London

The enormous significance that the British market has for Cyprus’s tourism was underlined by British Community Minister for Tourism Prasanna Antoniu and - Kyriakou and the chairman of the Cypriot Tourism Organisation Acheis Orontiolou in London.

Addressing a dinner in a central London hotel, the chairman of the British CTO, in the framework of her contacts at the British capital where she is attending the World Travel Market, Antoniou referred to the attractiveness of Cyprus as a tourist destination. He also highlighted the importance of the British market, describing it as the backbone of the Cypriot tourism economy.

“Away to do whatever we can to protect and maintain it, he added.

In statements to CNA, chairman of the Hoteliers’ Association Hans Lourakis welcomed the increased attention by the British government to the hope that the German market, which Cyprus invested greatly in, would also bear fruit. He also expressed his hope that the British market, describing it as the backbone of the Cypriot tourism economy.

“Away to do whatever we can to protect and maintain it, he added.

Many of the most influential Members of Congress from the Jewish community this week called on President Barack Obama to “undertake an urgent review of our relations with Turkey and our overall strategy in the Eastern Mediterranean.”

This is in response to “deep concern with the increasingly bellicose rhetoric and policies which the government of Turkey has adopted...drifting toward confrontation with our closest friends and allies, “primarily Cyprus and Israel.”

They called on the President to “begin immediately an intensive review of our relations with Turkey and our overall strategy in the Eastern Mediterranean.”

They said “It is our hope have expected Turkey to follow a different course on each and every one of these issues. It is our hope that an intensified and frank dialogue with Turkey can accelerate some of its rhetoric and roll-back its increasingly destabilising policies.

However, if that cannot be achieved, we look forward to working with your Administration to review the changed environment and develop an approach which better suits the situation.”

Key Members of Congress Call For “Urgent Review” of US-Turkey Relations

JEWISH COMMUNITY’S MOST INFLUENTIAL MEMBERS OF CONGRESS EXPRESS “DEEP CONCERN” OVER TURKEY’S ACTIONS TOWARDS CYPRUS AND ISRAEL

Fire to the equipment of the Greek Archdiocesan Youth Camp in Shrophire

Early on Sunday morning 6th November an arsonist broke into the Archdiocesan property and set fire to all the equipment used by the Archdiocesan Youth Camp at its site near Much Wenlock in Shropshire. The fire was put out by the local fire service and the crime is now under investigation by the police. No children were present and no one was injured. However there were propane gas cylinders which, had they exploded, could have caused serious injury.

The Youth Camp has been run for about 20 years by about 30 young volunteers for some 65 participants aged between 9 and 17. Normally there are also at least three clergy from the Archdiocese assisting with the camp. The camp is run for ten days in the summer and is attended by children from a great mixture of backgrounds and the races that are contained in the Archdiocese. These include Greeks, English, Romanians, Russians, Bulgarians, and Georgians.

The camp has hitherto been highly successful and valued by all the participants.

The motive for the attack is unknown but it has been suggested it may be linked to a dispute between the Archdiocese and the other more radical Orthodox and other adults assisting with the camp. The camp is run for ten days every summer and at this point there are 65 participants.

Many of the summer participants will be returning for a second summer camp. The camp has been held in Shrophire for many years since it was first held in Hertfordshire.

The attack has been much encouraged by the many offers of support, both from within the church and within the wider community. The support from former participants of the camp has been encouraging that it seems certain that the camp will be able to function as usual in 2012.

When Alex Ferguson arrived at Old Trafford 25 years ago last Sunday, the club was without a league title in 11 years and had won just three trophies since their 1968 European Cup peak under the legendary Sir Matt Busby. At that time the club’s honour board was sparse. It contained seven league titles and six FA Cups in addition to a solitary European Cup.

It was no exaggeration to say that United were living in the shadow of their great rivals Liverpool who were perpetually winning trophies at home and abroad.

The Scot has been famously quoted as saying “My greatest challenge is not what’s happening at the moment, my greatest challenge was knocking Liverpool right off their perch.”

And you can print that.

Who would have envisaged that he would have been true to his word? In retrospect, it is no real surprise given the character of the man and his insatiable drive to meet any challenge.

As Ferguson and Manchester United celebrated their 25 years in charge, the club’s trophy haul is now enviable. In 25 years Ferguson has amassed 37 trophies which include 12 titles, 5 FA Cups, 2 European Cups, 4 League Cups a Cup Winners Cup and 2 world club cups.

But these are mere numbers. The Treble season in 1999 will go down as one of the most incredible seasons in football history. Ferguson has also built, broken up and rebuilt countless teams.

It is a measure of the man’s influence that there is not one aspect of his achievements that can be held up as defining his career. It is impossible to sum up a quarter of a century.

Some of the players he has brought in to the club and those he has nurtured give an indication of his pulling power and the quality of the sides he has built. Schmeichel, Van Der Sar, Bruce, Pallister, Irwin, Cantona, Rooney, Kanchelskis, Sharpe, Vidic, Ferdinand, Ronaldo, Keane, Van Nistelrooy, Solkjaer, Cole and Yorke and others.

The class of 1992, that defied the perceived belief that “you don’t win anything with kids” are surely one of his greatest achievements. The Neville brothers, Beckham, Butt, Scholes and Giggs who came through together and go on to win everything together. No other player can come close to defining the Ferguson era than Ryan Giggs, the most decorated player in British football and has had more appearances than any other Manchester United player (885 competitive games) whilst he has also scored more goals than any other player under Ferguson’s reign (160 goals).

Many amazing things have been written about Ferguson this week but it is his longevity that is simply incredible. The Manchester United manager has now presided over over 1,400 competitive games since becoming manager on 6th November 1986, winning 836 of them. This gives him a win percentage of 59.3% and more remarkably, he has only failed to win 23.1% of ALL competitive games whilst he has in charge.

The confidence, the desire and sheer cheek of the minnows saw them overcome their supposed superiors. APOEL had beaten FC Porto and Ivan Jovanovic’s side continue to re-write the Champions League history books.

In a brilliantly-worked counter attack, Manduca scored and restored his side to the top of Group G. APOEL now stand on the brink of qualification. Again, history in the making.

“It is a great moment in our lives, for our fans, our people, our team, our players, everybody. It is a very nice moment and one of the best of my life,” scorer of the winning goal Gustavo Manduca said.

Jovanovic afterwards spoke of another memorable night for football in Cyprus.

“This is truly a historic result for our club. After they equalised it was difficult to score again but because there was little time left. This is one of the most important wins for our club, also because we defeated a side which I respect a lot. This is a great night for Cyprus,” he told reporters after the game.

APOEL was everyone’s no-hopers when the draw was made but the Cyprus champions are unbeaten after four games in the competition. They lead the group with eight points, one more than Zenit St Petersburg.

APOEL are all but guaranteed a place in the knockout phase of the Europa League, which would be another first for a Cypriot club, but a win against Zenit in Russia on November 23 would guarantee APOEL top spot in the group and send among Europe’s elite - the last 16 of the Champions League!

APOEL’s Serbian coach Ivan Jovanovic said the victory over FC Porto was the most important in the history of a club with 21 league titles and 19 domestic Cup wins, including four doubles, plus 12 Super Cups. 1999 will go down as one of the most incredible seasons in football history. APOEL is rewriting the fairytale story. Ferguson has already declared he would be delighted to finish third, guaranteeing European football until March but club captain Constantinos Charalambides, who played the through ball for Manduca to score the winner, admitted that the players were taking a rather different approach.

“We wish to qualify from the group, we will not hesitate in saying it. We are experiencing a historic moment, I believe that all of Europe is talking about APOEL,” he said.

Manchester United honour
Sir Alex Ferguson’s 25 years in charge

A fter 25 years as manager of Manchester United, the club honoured problably the greatest club manger in its history by dedicating Old Trafford’s biggest in his honour.

The newly named Sir Alex Ferguson Stand will forever be a symbol of the Scottman’s quarter of a century in work charge of one of the world’s biggest clubs.
All week there have been pages of print dicated to Ferguson and his achievements in the game.
It is difficult to really quantify his achievements in simple terms. Of course there are the trophies, 12 titles, 5 FA Cups, 2
European Cups, 4 League Cups, a Cup
Winners’ Cup and 2 world club cups.

Ferguson has been more than about trophies. He has presided over the most successful period in the club’s history. He has built and dismantled many teams.
He has dominated the English game like no other and in years to come ever team that plays at Old Trafford will look up at one-hand and his stand. Fittingly he will always be part of the club given his influence and success over such a prolonged period of time.

The honour was a surprise for Ferguson and marks the first time in the 101-year history of Old Trafford that a stand has been named after an individual.

Chief executive David Gill said: "To be at a club of our standing for so long is truly remarkable.

International Rugby: Greece 47 Bulgaria 7

S uperb performance from Australia-based fly-half Jeremy Raftos helped Greece to a barnstorming 47-7 victory over Bulgaria in thess-ionika on Saturday. Raftos, who lasted just ten minutes before being knocked out in his losing debut in Bulgaria a year ago, gained a measure of revenge by running in three of Greece’s seven tries and kicked over six conversions for a personal points haul of 27 - a new record for a Greek in an international match.

Scrum-half Iason Dagdelenis, wing Thodoris Foto, centre James Kalpaxis and hooker Dimitis Amutis also went over as new coach Mike Bishop marked his first game in charge with a crushing victory.
Bulgaria led 19-0 at the break before opening the gap to 33-6 just 11 minutes into the second half.
The Bulgarians hit back with one converted try before the speedy Greeks carved them open for two more.
Half-back Jeremy Raftos and prop forward Nick Pena both made their international debuts in Sofia as Greece started their campaign for promotion to 3B with a win on the road.

The 21-year-old Raftos, who plays for Eastern Suburbs Rugby Club in Sydney, missed much of this season...

Brotherhood came from behind to beat Rizokarpaso 2-1 and Cetinkaya registered their first win of the season beating Panthea 4-2.

In Division Two Tripimenh made it five from five against Komi Kebir 3-1.

Tripimeni are now back as leaders of the chasing group for Salamina’s title after another convincing victory. They took a 3-0 half time with Alex Roussias, Ahmed and Nicky Riffle. Olympia came briefly into the game with a goal from Anthony Aristides but two more goals from Karim sealed victory for Tripimeni.

Salamina made it six from six against KLn and found scoring a lot easier thanks to several additions to the squad. Anorthosis are now firing with all cylinders and finding scoring a lot easier thanks to several additions to the squad.

They did not waste time and took control of the match with a four goal blitz in the opening 45 minutes. Sahil hit a hat-trick the other coming from Ismail. Their fighting spirit has given them another victory. Rizo took the lead with Leon Semper in the first half and only great goalkeeping from George kept them from going further ahead. Brother- hood had the ideal man in Aaron Kennedy to punish KLn and he obliged with a dou-ble to give the visitors all three points.

At last a win for Cetinkaya who looked to have turned the corner after a dread- ful start to the season.

Salamina Leaders Salamina had to battle hard to overcome Dynamo and keep their hun- dred per cent record. They took a 3-1 half time lead with goals from George Gag- gouris, Douggie Morton and Richard Georgiou. Dynamo’s reply came from Alex Violaris and they also started the second half well reducing the arrears with a goal from new signing Rico. Salamina needed all their expertise to fend off Dy- namo and they did that with further goals from Georgiou, Steve Valentina and John Kyriakou. Dynamo’s third goal came from Alex Violaris.

A late goal by veteran Tasso Anastasi gave Aradippou a well deserved point against Ael. The visitors took the lead with a penalty from George Michael and looked to be heading for victory until Tasos late strike.
