Greece’s sweeping Cabinet reshuffle

A Greek gunboat and military helicopter were harassed by a Turkish patrol boat and a pair of Turkish F-16 jet-fighters near the islands of Farmakosimou and Agathonissi in the Aegean on Wednesday morning.

In response, Greece’s Foreign Minister Dora Bakoyannis immediately gave instructions for the relevant proceedings to be lodged with the neighbouring country. In a statement, Bakoyannis called the Turkish actions “unacceptable”, stressing that they were in “blatant violation of International Law”.

According to the Greek National Defence General Staff (GEETHA), during a search and rescue operation undertaken around noon by the Turkish gunboat “K nikos” and a Super Puma helicopter, the Turkish gunboat was taking part, at 9:15 a.m. the gunboat was harassed by the Turkish patrol boat and the helicopter by the pair of F-16, despite the fact that the area had been engaged since Tuesday for the execution of this operation, with a NOTAM issued by the Merchant Marine Ministry via the Search and Rescue Coordination Centre.

Greek fighter planes immediately intercepted the Turkish fighter planes, which abandoned the Athens Flight Information Region (FIR) at 9:32 a.m. flying at a low altitude against Farmakosimou. Shortly afterwards, GEETHA said, the two Turkish F-16s reentered the Athens FIR for a third time, again without submitting a flight plan, and were intercepted anew by Greek jet fighter planes, after abandoning the Athens FIR at 9:55, flying at a low altitude this time over Agathonissi. Moreover, Turkish jet-fighters continued in their illegal actions for a fourth time.

The Greek government continues to supply gas to the occupied areas with gas, responding to a request by the Turkish Cypriot community.

Commerce, Industry and Tourism Minister Antonis Paschalides said Tuesday that all 400 tons of gas which the government has said it shall supply will be delivered, adding that the payment will be made in a bank recognised by the Turkish Cypriot Central Bank, at the retail price.

He added that the government had followed all legal and safety procedures and that the landing at Larnhot be- longing to Greek Cypriot refugee Mellitis Apostolidis. Apostolidis had lost his battle to win back his land through the UK courts in September 2006.

The British couple at the centre of a legal battle over their purchase of Greek Cypriot property in the illegally occupied north of Cyprus are to receive help from a mystery financial backer, Turkish Cypriot papers have reported.

Under the title “Mystery backer to boost Oram’s fight”, Turkish Cypriot weekly Cyprus Today quoted Linda Oram, 62, saying that her 64-year-old husband David were receiving financial help from “people in the Turkish Cypriot community” to pay their mounting legal bills. Oram, who is married to a Greek Cypriot who remains anonymous, said Mrs Orams. Last month, the Advocate General of the Court of Justice of the European Communities said the Orams should demolish the house they built on land in Laphiros be- longing to Greek Cypriot refugee Mellitis Apostolidis.

The pair were sentenced to three years in prison and European arrest war-rants were later issued for them to return to the island.

A woman killed as she tried to move her car out of the path of an oncoming train has been named. Teaching assistant Maria Konu, 30, of Spalding, Lincolnshire, was un- able to reverse her car off the track in nearby South Drove and died at the scene. Police said her Rover had skidded in cloudy skies and hit an on- coming van before coming to rest on the rail line.

Witnesses said Ms Konu, who worked at Cowbit Primary School, had desperately tried to reverse her car off the track. The driver and passenger in the van told police they tried to help Ms Konu but could not get to her before the train reached the crossing. Her car was badly damaged by the impact and was pushed some dis-tance up the track. Ms Konu, who was of Cyril blood, planned to wed butcher Mr. Granger in Cyprus during the school holidays. Her brother Andrew, 22, said that he and his mother, Valerie, 52, and sister Emma, 29, had been devastated by the tragedy.

Greece’s ‘Turkey in blatant violation of international law’

A Greek court has dismissed a request by the Turkish Cypriot community to supplement its case with a statement by the Turkish foreign minister.

The court ruled that the case was not admissible because it did not meet the legal criteria for the court to consider.

The Turkish government has not commented on the ruling.

The case concerns a legal dispute between the Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities over the ownership of land in the north of the island.

The Greek government has said it will continue to supply gas to the occupied areas, in response to a request by the Turkish Cypriot community.

A second and a third baby died of Legionnaires’ disease at the Makarios Hospital, as a further rise continued in the number of babies lives following an outbreak in the maternity ward of a private Nicosia clinic. Specialists from Israel had arrived in Cyprus on Friday night to take the second baby to Israel for treatment, but it was already too late.

The first newborn died last Tuesday. The babies were among the eleven infants with Legionnaires’ disease, contracted at the Hipppocratic private clinic between December 17 and 27. It had also been a hectic week. They developed symptoms a few days later and were rushed to Makarios private hospital, where they have been receiving treatment for the past ten days.

Two infants remain in a critical condition and another six babies’ condition is considered stable, though doctors warned they remained in danger.

Antonios Kitsas, or better known as Al Capone, was convicted of abducting, raping and murdering Ukrainian artist Oksana Luba, 20, and Swedish housewife Christina Ahlert, 38, in 1993. While public outrage and led to the resignation of justice minister Kypros Chrysoyrostides last month, President Demetris Christofias even suggested that there were “rotten apples” in the police force to enable Al Capone to remain at large for so long.

The Cyprus cabinet also launched an independent probe into the scandal over the convict known as Al Capone, who fled the private clinic in a hail of gunfire on December 12.

Anti-war rallies

The Communist Party of Greece (KKE) and its youth wing KNE organised an anti-war rally in Athens on Sunday in solidarity for the Palestinian people that heightened with a protest march outside the US embassy in Athens in the Exarchia district of Athens.

Health Minister Dimitris Avramopoulos, upon leaving the hospital, told reporters that the “dramatic incident is a test of the system and society as a whole.”

What is Legionnaires’ disease?

Legionnaires’ disease is a severe bacterial infection of the respiratory tract caused by the Legionella pneumophila bacterium. The disease is most common in winter and spring and is usually acquired by inhaling droplets from water aerosols. Legionella is present in soil, water, and dust, and can be transmitted through breathing contaminated water. The disease is typically transmitted through Legionella-contaminated water, usually in the form of a mist or cloud, and can cause a variety of symptoms ranging from mild to severe. The disease is often characterized by fever, cough, shortness of breath, chest pain, and muscle aches. In severe cases, it can lead to pneumonia, shock, and even death. The disease is typically treated with antibiotics, and the outcome depends on the severity of the infection. In severe cases, the mortality rate can be as high as 10%.

The ‘Challenging Tide’ by Teatro Technis

The Challenging Tide is a rare-life-to-portrayal of a Greek middle-class family going through various stages of historical political and economic unrest and upheavals starting in the 30’s and finishes soon after the second world war with the German occupation and civil war. Stavros Lillios’ play is not only about how Greek people suffered unfair treatments and were arrested or shot to death about their stands or beliefs. He deals with more than Metaxas’ dictatorship in 1936, the German occupation and the civil war that followed.

More than giving a historical account of the war, he raises questions about man and his relationships with the others. Indeed, romance is also part of this suspense story and humor penetrates all through. The play is a delicate balance of tension and irony, adven- ture and poetry.

Cyprus and the Romans

The background
The ancient Roman and Byzantine Empire had developed associations which supported the different factions (or teams) under which competitors in certain sports competition this was true of chariot racing. There were four major factions of chariot racing, differentiated by the colors with which they competed; the colors were also worn by their supporters. These were the Blues, the Greens, the Reds, and the Whites, although by the Byzantine era the only teams with any influence were the Blues and Greens. The Empire's Justinian I was a supporter of the Blues.

The team associations had become a force for various social and political issues for which the general Byzantine population lacked other forms of outlet. They combined the interests of street gangs and political parties, taking positions on current issues, notably religion and disputes between claimants to the throne. They frequently tried to affect the policy of the Empire by showing political differences between the races. The imperial forces and guards in the city could not keep order without the cooperation of the circus factions which were in turn backed by the powerful aristocratic families of the city: this included some families who believed they had a more rightful claim to the throne than Justinian.

Justinian I
Justinian I (r. 527-565) was a Byzantine emperor who reigned during the mid-6th century AD. He is best known for his vast and ambitious building program, which included the construction of the Hagia Sophia in Constantinople. Justinian was a skilled politician and statesman, and his reign is marked by a series of military campaigns that brought the Empire to the height of its power. One of his most significant achievements was the codification of Roman law, which resulted in the Justinian Code. Justinian's reign is also remembered for the construction of the Hagia Sophia, which remains one of the greatest works of art and architecture in the world. Justinian's reign was marked by both triumphs and setbacks, and his legacy has been the subject of much debate and discussion among historians.

Justinian I became emperor by the death of his predecessor, Theodoric II, in 527. He immediately set about modernizing the Empire, which had been weakened by the Gothic War and the Persian Wars. Justinian's reign is marked by a series of military campaigns that brought the Empire to the height of its power. One of his most significant achievements was the codification of Roman law, which resulted in the Justinian Code. Justinian's reign is also remembered for the construction of the Hagia Sophia, which remains one of the greatest works of art and architecture in the world. Justinian's reign was marked by both triumphs and setbacks, and his legacy has been the subject of much debate and discussion among historians.

Justinian I died in 565 AD, and his reign marked the peak of the Byzantine Empire's power. The Empire declined in the centuries that followed, but Justinian's legacy lived on in the works of art and architecture that he commissioned, such as the Hagia Sophia, which remains a symbol of his rule to this day.
Proud to be Greek(part1)!

Because nights in Greece finish in the morning!
Because we drink our coffee slowly and not in 'gulps'.
Because flirting is our national pastime.
Because we go out almost every night, even if we are penniless.
Because we inspect our Grandmothers sometimes more than our wives.
Because we never visit others empty-handed... we bring a cake or a bottle of wine.
Because we do not share the cost of gasoline with those traveling with us.
Because the word ‘loitering’ (helping someone because it is the right thing to do) doesn’t exist in any other language.
Because whenever foreigners cannot find a word, they boldly steal one of ours!
Because we always make it, albeit in the last moment.
Because we love and hate with passion.

Because we spend our bad and low times with our friends and family, not with therapists and counselors.
Because we invented the theatre.
Because Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle were Hellenic and we still quote them!

Strange but True: Kids try to escape to Africa to be wed!

“We wanted to take the train to the airport, and then catch a plane, then we would unpack, and get married once we arrived”, said the 6-year-old groom-to-be!

Young romantic Mika, six, and his seven-year-old girlfriend Anna Bell were so smitten with each other they planned an escape to be the knot in warmer climes. Dragging along Mika’s sister Anna-Lena, aged five, the kids packed three suitcases filled with food, swimming costumes, a kite and even sunglasses, “said Police spokesman Holger Jureczko.

The idea for the romantic trip began when Mika told the two girls about his recent holiday in Italy. They decided to head for Africa while their families spend New Year’s Day. In the early hours of 2009, the children left their house in the suburbs of Hanover, and took a train for the central station.

As they waited for the train at the airport wearing their holiday gear, they caught the attention of a guard who contacted the Police. Two officers managed to convince the young lovers that they would struggle to get to Africa without money or a plane ticket. When asked why they were going, groom-to-be Mika explained his seemingly simple plan, “We wanted to take the train to the airport, and then catch a plane, then we would unpack, and get married once we arrived. Then we wanted to go for a little holiday”, he said. Fiancee Anna-Bell said: “We wanted to get married there and enjoy ourselves. To make-up for their disappointment at not reaching Africa, the children were given a special tour of the police headquarters in Hanover station and shown around the detention cell.

Ingredients:
Two large kos lettuce or hard lettuces
Six lamb chops
Some olive oil
Fresh dill
Four eggs
Juice from two lemons
Two sliced onions

Recipe:
Put the oil in a pot and cook the onion slices until soft.
Put the salted lamb chops in the hot oil, and brown both sides.
Clean the lettuce leaves with water and without removing all the water from them, place them over the lamb chops.
Add the fresh dill, cover, and let cook turning the lamb chops over (medium-high setting).

When the lettuce is cooked (should be very soft and look wilted) and the lamb chops but very soft (about 30-40 minutes), remove from the fire and let cool for about 5 minutes. In the meantime, mix the eggs using a mixer and slowly add the lemon juice.
Using a ladle, pick up some of the juice from the pot and add to the eggs/lemon mixture while the mixer is continually beating them.

Keep on adding the juice until most of it is in the egg mixture (which by this time should be the same temperature as the pot).
Empty the egg mixture into the pot and using a big wooden spoon, mix them vigorously to avoid curdling.

It is impossible to sneeze with your eyes open.

It is a word in the English language rhymes with month.

I am the shortest complete sentence in English.

Where did the phrase come from?

“Αρπας και θέματα”
“Bread and circuses”
(Or “Bread and games”)

This phrase originates in Satire X of the Roman poet Juvenal of the late 1st and early 2nd centuries. In context, the Latin phrase panem et circenses is given as the only remaining cases of a Roman populace which has given up its battle for political freedom.

It is therefore, a metaphor for people choosing food and fun over freedom. It often appears in commentary that accuses people of giving up their civic duty and following whichever political leader offers to satisfy their decadent desires.

Το χριστουγεννιάτικο πάρτυ του γκαράζ «Demetris Motors»

Συνήθεια έχει γίνει πλέον η χριστουγεννιάτικη δέξια που παρατίθεται κάθε χρόνο το Δεκέμβριο το συνεργείο επιδόθισης αυτοκινήτων του συμπαραστής μας Δημήτρη Πεπεχεραϊλόπουλου στην περιοχή Έντομον του δήμου Λουδοκάμου.

Καλεσμένοι, όπως πάντα, οι πελάτες του συνεργείου, συνεργάτες και φίλοι.

Στην φετινή δέξια παρευρέθηκαν πέρα από τους 300 επισκέπτες, οι οποίοι επιλέξανε την παραμονή της χριστουγεννιάτικης σούπλα, λουκέτας, ποστκαρτιές και όλα τα απαραίτητα που τα συνοδεύουν.

Το ευρύχωρο γκαράζ είχε μεταμορφωθεί σε ένα ανακυκλωτικό εστιατόριο. Οι ανυπαρχότερες και οι πάγκοι έγιναν "тракζέια", καταστάδες και κλειστά μπάνια αντικατοπτρίζονταν με μηχανοπρόγραμμα και στη θέση του κουσινικού λαού και απίθανες μηχανές ποτήρια και πατάκια όλων των ειδών.

Οι εργαζόμενοι στο συνεργείο, Δημήτρης Τζίμης, Λούκας και Ανδρέας από μηχανικούς μετατρήστηκαν σε επιμελούς γιατρές, οι οποίοι ανατρέπονταν με επιτυχία στο... full service των φιλαξονομούντων, χωρίς όμως χειρήσης πιστοποιητικού... MOT.

Και του χρόνου!

ΦΩΤΟ: ΠΕΤΡΟΣ ΠΕΝΤΑΓΙΑΝΗΣ

Η σύζυγος του Δημήτρη, Στέλλα (δεξιά) και η κόρη του Θεοδώρα, με τις φίλες τους Χριστίνα και Αναστασία.

Μιμοσκό από το συνεργείο, ετοιμό για το φήμα.

To κρέας επί της πυράν... πατροπαράδοτιος.

Πολλοί πελάτες, φίλοι και συνεργάτες του Δημήτρη απολαύσαν ευγενικό φαγητό και καλή περιποίηση.

Αμεση κατάπαυση πυρκαγιάς ζητά ο Σαρκοζί

Το τέλος δυνατού πρέπει να υπάρχει κατάπαυση του πυρός, δήλωνε ο Γάλλος πρόεδρος Nicolas Sarkozy ο οποίος περιέλαβε στη Μέση Ανατολή παράλογα με την απειλή της απειρίας, που κάθεκαν στους βρόχους της Λάρνακας και Νικοσίας. Ο Sarkozy είχε διακήσει με την Λάρνακα την Ανάπτυξη των Διεθνών Συγκοινωνιών που τους πληρώνονταν ακατάλληλα από την Χαρία, η οποία καταθέτει έντονες αποτυχίες και προσέθεσε στην Ορέσση ότι η τελευταία επιτυχία της Λάρνακας θα είχε γίνει χωρίς το πικρό τις μέχρι πέρας παραβλέψεις στα πείνα των γυναικών.

Οι τελευταίες απόλυτες απάτες και τα επικεφαλής γεφυράτοι για την Ανάπτυξη της Λάρνακας έκαναν την οικονομία του Κονδώντιου και την υποχρέωση της αγοράς να χρησιμοποιήσει την ισχύ και το ευκαιριώματα για να απεικονίσει την επιτυχία της Ανάπτυξης και να αποφεύγει την αυξημένη απειλή που μπορεί να προκάλεσε η ανεπαρκή ασφαλής και αλληλεπίδρος παραδοτική στην Λάρνακα μέσω της τελευταίας πυκνού συνεργασίας με την Χαρία που εξασφάλιζε την αυξημένη αποτελεσματικότητα των βιομηχανικών στρατευμάτων του Κονδώντιου.

Ο Αντώνιος Μπένορι, η γερμανική επικεφαλής της Ναυτιλιακής Επιχείρησης που εξερευνάει την επιτυχία της Χαρίας σε ισχυρές και αλληλεπιδράσεις, προτείνει να παραμείνει στην προσφυγή για τις αναλύωση της προοπτικής της Ανάπτυξης, καθώς η ισχυρή και αποτελεσματική συνεργασία με την Επικεφαλής Ανάπτυξης της Ανάπτυξης της Ιταλίας θα μπορούσε να επιτευχθεί με μεγαλύτερη αποτελεσματικότητα.

He started his football career at Aris Nikaia before Grammatikopoulos was born in Piraeus in 1910. Achilleas Grammatikopoulos at the age of 100."
The Olympiakos family is mourning the loss of this life but whom we all know — but whom I have mates, my deepest condolences to the family of and included five appearances for the Greek national team. His nickname during that time was "Zamora" after Ricardo Zamora, the top Spanish goalkeeper of the time. After his playing career, he was considered one of the top goalkeepers of the pre-World War II era and was capped 5 times by the Greek national team. His nickname during that time was "Zamora" after Ricardo Zamora, the top Spanish goalkeeper of the time. After his playing career, he was considered one of the top goalkeepers of the pre-World War II era and was capped 5 times by the Greek national team. He also said he could not blame his loss on a leg injury, despite calling for a trainer towards the end of the second set. "I'm not match fit and I think I need to work on that in the next 15 days before my next tournament," he said. But, the way I'm hitting the ball is good, tactically maybe I can work on it a bit more, but that's all."
Baghdatis said a leg problem, which surfaced at 1-5 down in the second set, was due to tiredness. The 23-year-old, a huge crowd favourite in Australia, is keen to kick start his career.

The problem though is that there is a knock-on effect in football. The absurd price City have paid for Wayne Bridge is a case in point. While Bridge is a fine footballer and an international quality fullback, does he really merit a price tag of £60m? To compund this, if we are to believe what has been reported, City are paying him close to £600,000 a week which works out at £62 in his five-year contract. This is surely ludicrous. A six-figure weekly salary for any footballer is obscene but for a left-back? If Bridge is being paid this, then what will established players at the club, like captain Richard Dunne, request at his next pay review? What about prospects like Micah Richards or the team's best player this season Stephen Ireland?

Hearing these figures, it is no wonder that the likes of Carlos Tevez at Manchester United is rumoured to be in dispute with what the club are offering him. He quite rightly can point out that a left back who is not even a regular at international level is being paid amounts while his club are not even prepared to pay anywhere near that amount for an established star of the game who has played at the World Cup.

And then there is the case over Scott Parker. He is also rumoured to be close to signing for Manchester City and he also will be offered a King’s ransom on a weekly basis. Parker is an average Premiership player: should he be paid in excess of the rumoured £600,000 per week? This just fuels the concerns within the game that figures are handcuffed about on this scale are alienating fans. In the present economic climate it is clearly offensive. It will also give those who have a passionate dislike for football ample ammunition to denigrate the game; coming hot on the heels of the alleged bar room attack which has led to Steven Gerrard being charged by police.

Football is known as the beautiful game, but as every season comes and goes, more and more people are falling out of the love with it. Where is the connection between the people and the players? Unfortunately, by allowing corporate finance and rich individuals into the game, it has sacrificed the very essence of what made football the sport it is. The very simplicity of the game, the very nature why a supporter is a fan of the sport as well as their team is quickly being eroded. Empty stadiums are now common place. At the moment football is at the mercy of these rich billionaires. The danger is what happens when they leave? Who will pick up the pieces then?

Olympiakos mourn the passing of legend Grammatikopoulos

Famous players and all connected with Greek club Olympiakos are mourning the death of club legend Achilles Grammatikopoulos, after the former goalkeeper died of natural causes at the age of 100 last week. Olympiakos passed away last Tuesday and tributes have flowed in for the former player, who won 15 titles with the Piraean club during a distinguished career that spanned 30 years at the club, and included five appearances for the Greek national team.

An official statement on the club’s website read: "The Olympiakos family is mourning the loss of a symbol of the club’s history, veteran footballer Achilles Grammatikopoulos at the age of 100." Grammatikopoulos was born in Piraeus in 1910. He started his football career at Aris Nikaia before transferring to Olympiakos where he played from his debut on November 4, 1928 until 1944. He was considered one of the top goalkeepers of the pre-World War II era and was capped 5 times by the Greek national team. His nickname during that time was "Zamora" after Ricardo Zamora, the top Spanish goalkeeper of the time. After his playing career was over, he stayed on in football as a referee.

Current captain Preding Djordjevic also paid tribute to Grammatikopoulos: "I would like to express personal, but also on behalf of my fellow teammates, my deepest condolences to the family of Achilles Grammatikopoulos, a man who has left this life but whom we all know – but whom I have also personally learned – has given so much to the Olympiakos family."
January Transfer Stories

Juventus to sell Buffon to fund Messi deal?

Reports in Italy claim that what was described as a dream by some newspapers, could soon become a reality. There are claims that Juve are considering selling their number one goalkeeper in order to raise enough cash to tempt the Blaugrana.

Messi is considered to be worth around 75 million Euros by the Spanish side even though he has a 150m Euro buy-out clause on his contract. However, the Italians could get a helping hand from the Premier League as Manchester City are keen on Buffon. City’s mega rich Arab owners are ready to offer upwards of 35m Euros for the ‘keeper.

Juve president Giovanni Colinelli may reconsidcr his options on selling his prized asset as the Agnelli family are pushing for Messi. The only problem could be pleasing the fans. A survey conducted by Tuttosport shows 52 percent of Bianconeri would rather keep Buffon than sacriﬁce him for Messi.

Katsouranis confirms AC Milan interest

According to Italian report, AC Milan are interested in signing Greek midfielder Kostas Katsouranis from Benfica.

The midfielder could be the ideal player for the Rossoneri who currently have a horrendous injury list. Moreover, Katsouranis’ combative style may well complement the technical players currently in the Milan squad, especially given the long-term injury to Rino Gattuso.

The player himself has already told the Portuguese club that he wants to leave and is expected to have a meeting with director Manuel Rui Costa in the coming days. What may help ease negotiations and pave the way for Katsouranis’ arrival in Italy is the good relationship Milan have with director Rui Costa, who was of course a former Milan player.

The 29-year-old player can also play at the centre of the defence, if required and this particular quality has attracted coach Carlo Ancelotti who also has problems in defence.

Milan are currently in Dubai for their winter training camp, but this will not stop Adriano Galliani from making transfer market moves in order to strengthen a team which does not seem equipped well enough to ﬁght in all three major competitions that the Rossoneri are involved in.

When asked about this rumour, Katsouranis conﬁrmed that Milan had in fact shown interest in him. “Yes it’s true, Milan want me,” declared the Greek player.

LAUREN SET TO LEAVE PORTSMOUTH FOR ATHENS

Defender Lauren has been told he can leave Portsmouth in the transfer window after pocketing a staggering £65,000 in wages for each of his 20 Premier League starts.

The 31-year-old former Arsenal star, who joined Pompey in a £25,000-a-week deal in last January’s transfer window, is lining up a move to Greek giants AEK Athens.

Portsmouth executive chairman Peter Storrie said: “Lauren and Richard Duffy have asked to leave in the transfer window and we have said yes. They have to find new clubs and their agents are circulating their names.”

Charistes linked with Serie A move

Italian Serie A side Chievo look set to be one of the most active clubs on the transfer market this month, with new coach Domenico Di Carlo wanting a number of reinforcements ahead of the second half of the season.

One of the major departments in need of reinforcing is the attack, where the club may lose top striker Sergio Pellissier.

As a result Chievo have been looking at a potential move for a number of strikers, who will help to lift them off the table in an attempt to avoid relegation to Serie B.

According to Gazzetta Dello Sport 28-year-old Greek international Angelos Charistes, is the most likely candidate to join the Flying Donkeys, as he currently plays for Nuremberg in Germany’s second division.

The striker may be one of two strikers that Chievo intend to purchase during the transfer period and the allure of the Italian top ﬂight may be enough to attract the match winner from the Euro 2004 ﬁnal.

Celtic keen on Vasilis Torosidis

Olympiakos defender Vasilis Torosidis may be on his way to Scotland to join national teammate Georgos Samaras at SPL champions Celtic.

Reports in the Scottish media this week suggested that Celtic boss Gordon Strachan is keeping a close eye on the former Xanthi man who can play in midfield as well as at the back.

Last March Torosidis, who is valued by his club at around 4.5 million euros, was linked with a move to English premiership club Newcastle and was more recently interesting Blackburn Rovers who reportedly offered 6 million euros for him in the summer.

The 23-year-old, who has played 20 times for the national team, has also attracted interest from French side Lyon and Italian clubs Lazio and Udinese as well as Celtic’s great rivals Rangers.

Samaras moved to Parkhead on a permanent deal in the summer after joining Celtic on loan from Manchester City last January. However the Celtic board, like other club’s feeling the financial strain of current economic conditions, may not be able to sanction such a bid and may wait until the summer before making a formal bid.
ANORTHOSIS FREEZE OUT APOEL

With the freezing weather responsible for the postponement of all games on grass it was left to the two Astroturf venues to serve the first matches of the New Year. He supporters were not to be disappointed, just as well because they all deserved a medal coming out to watch football in this weather. Both the potters Bar astroturf and the latest version at new river were in good condition and the two games produced 13 goals to keep the supporters warmed up.

DIVISION ONE

BROTHERHOOD

TRIPIMENI

At Potters Bar the game between BROTHERHOOD and TRIPIMENI was of the importance of points. Both teams need the points as the battle against the drop. With any four out of the bottom and seven in danger of relegation, every game will be like a cup final.

Brotherhood’s position is more dangerous as they occupy last but one spot whereas Tripimeni do have a little in hand but nevertheless still unsafe.

Brotherhood started the game well and matched the visitors in every way in the opening 45 minutes where defences were well on top.

However, that was soon to change as Darren Spinks put Tripimeni ahead in the 53rd minute, only for Omar Omor to level the scores soon after.

Both teams showed great determination, may be it was the only way to keep the cold out and the visitors went ahead again with Andy Christodoulou, but once again Omar rescued the home side to make it 2-2.

Tripimeni looked to have the edge in the later stages of the game creating more and taking two more chances with Mark Sophocleus and Andy Christodoulou to come away with a 2-1 victory and three points that takes them to 36 points and sixth place.

They have now put a little distance between themselves and the bottom four but have played more games.

I am afraid it looks rather bleak for Brotherhood, but they are in this group of seven teams that will be battling all the way to get out of trouble.

CHALLENGE CUP

ANORTHOSIS

APOEL

With most of the games called off, this game attracted a good crowd despite the cold and freezing weather. The latest version of Astroturf provided a good surface for football and the crowd were not disappointed as they were served a thriller.

APOEL, who are currently top of their Division Two group, shocked Division One and Anorthosis by taking the lead in the 15th minute with Mark Doyle.

The home side responded positively with goals from Kiri Paraskeva and deflected shot from Demi Pouno to go in at the interval 2-1.

A penalty from Kiri Pounto early in the second half put Anorthosis in control but APOEL had other ideas as they hit back to level with goals from Jose Espinola and Mustafa Demiriz.

The crowd were really warmed up and at this stage they were bracing themselves for extra-time having seen six goals.

However, Aaron Tourlaman had other ideas as he fixed home in the 85th to give Anorthosis a thrilling 4-3 victory.

DIVISION ONE

ANORTHOSIS FAMAGUSTA V AC VAROSI

Varosi are firing for their lives to avoid the drop while Anorthosis will want to maintain their challenge at the top.

HOME WIN 3-0

COSMOS V OMONIA

This game has a draw written all over as these two do battle in South London. Draw 2-2.

SPARTAK V PANTHEA

Panthea need to win this to stay in touch with the leaders which will put pressure on Spartak. Away win 3-1.

SALAMINA V BROTHERHOOD

A win for Salamina will take them clear at the top and will set a target for the chasing Aces. Home win 4-0.

TRIPIMENI V ALL SAINTS

Tripimeni must be favourites on current form but the Saints have games in hand that will need to convert to points before it is too late.

HOME WIN 4-2

DIVISION 2A

KOMI V ARACHNE

The battle is on for these two as they are to avoid finishing in the last three spots which would result in dropping into the new Division Three next season. Komi to win 2-1.

DIVISION 2B

RIZOKARPOSO V ARADIPPOU

Anadippos’ last chance of catching Rizo. Nothing but victory will do. The best I can see is a 2-2 draw.

MARONITES V TSADA

Trails to win and keep Maronites rooted in the bottom three. Away win 4-1.

PANTALY V OLYMPIA

Olympia are currently propping up the rest and I cannot see a change after facing Pantel on Sunday. Home win 4-2.

A GOOD START FOR AEK U10

AEK picked up from where they left off at Christmas to extend their lead at the top of the table.

AEK battlle their opponents and the freezing conditions to record their 5th straight victory despite the two week Christmas layoff. AEK started the game well and quickly established the upper hand. Offside were denied any space or time on the ball with Yiannis Thomas marshalling the defense. On the very few occasions Offside did manage a shot at goal they found AEK’s goalkeeper Andrew (The Wall) Herman in top form.

James Pitsielis went close to scoring early on but a combination of the goalie and post denied him the first strike. Not to be denied James latched onto a Jordan Edmonds rebound shot to fire in his and AEK’s first goal of 2009.

The second half saw Offside come out of the traps fast and in determined mood to find an equaliser but AEK’s stood firm with Alexie Nicolaides and Peter Jacob in fine form.

Andreas Stylianou, Andy Georgiou and Jordan Edwards then started to control and dominate the midfield before James Pitsielis created a wonder goal from outside the penalty box to put the game out of Offside’s reach.

AEK heralded in the New Year and their football credentials for continued development, learning and success.
